BARE FACT IS THIS: HE'D OVERSLEPT ANYWAY

CAMPBELL RIVER—Loggers at Salmon River Logging Company operations 40 miles north of here set a choker a few days ago on a big cedar log, and signalled for it to be hauled away.

Rudy Belin, hooktender, watched it go safely to the roadside, bumping along the ground and bouncing a bit at the end of a steel cable.

B.C. Doctors Fight Tax on $390,000 In 'Kickbacks'

Appeal Ruling On Commissions For Spectacles

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Federal Revenue Department's claim that 20 Vancouver and Victoria doctors have taken $390,000 in "kickbacks" on spectacle prescriptions in the last 10 years was being appealed here today.

The doctors have appealed the revenue department's assessments, claiming the money was non-taxable capital gain on shares in Prescription Optical Co. Ltd.

The government assessments on what the Crown lawyers described as "secret commissions" or "kickbacks" range from $4,488 to $54,754 per doctor since 1947.

The government answered the appeal against the assessment by claiming a conspiracy between the doctors and Standard Optical Co., Imperial Optical Co., Prescription Optical Co. Ltd., Oculist Prescription Co. Ltd., and H. A. Boyaner "in fraud of the government of Canada to arrange a purported sale of shares in the capital stock of Oculist Prescription Co. Ltd. to Standard Optical Co. Ltd. and to represent the said money as capital receipts, whereas the money received by the appellants as a result of the said conspiracy was income."

WORST IN 30 YEARS

San Francisco Quake Sways Big Buildings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A heavy earthquake shook San Francisco at 11:45 a.m. today. It was followed immediately by another lighter shock.

A lighter quake had shaken the city at 10:48 a.m. Downtown buildings swayed. Unlike the earlier quake, the big shock was felt in other areas surrounding San Francisco Bay.

It was the worst shock San Francisco has experienced in 30 years. It was felt slightly 40 miles from San Francisco.

Ike Says He's Ready To Take Full Part In Bagdad Alliance

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP)—President Eisenhower today informed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the United States was willing to join the military phase of the Baghdad Pact.

The Arab nations, it was announced, have been advised of the new American position through a presidential mission now in the Middle East.

The President gave the same new to Macmillan and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd here today.

Eisenhower and Macmillan spent most of the morning exploring the Anglo-American views on European integration, the two nations on atomic relations with the Soviet Union weapons.

Action Forced by Red Menace

Official U.S. announcement of Baghdad Pact participation said, "Participation, if members of the pact so desire and indicate their willingness to have us become members, is related solely to the communist menace and in Asia carries no political connotation with respect to intra-area matters."

A spokesman said the United States already was a member of the pact's economic and counter-subversive committees. With the latest development it would now belong to all three committees. Pact members are the United Kingdom, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey.

The American spokesman, Andrew Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, strongly emphasized that the new move would not entail additional military assistance by the United States to pact members, all of whom already receive military assistance.

But what it would do, he said, would be to permit joint mili-

Settlement Seen

LONDON (AP)—Union leaders and shipyard employers said today they have reached a basis to negotiate the end of a strike of 200,000 shipyard workers, now in its sixth day. The officials also said they had reached a basis for a settlement of a threatened nation-wide railroad strike.

UNEF Must Control Gaza Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the United Nations Emergency Force must have "effective control" of administration in the Gaza Strip if it is to carry out its responsibility to keep the peace along the Israel-Gaza border.

If Egypt does not agree to this, he said in the Commons, "the continued operation of UNEF would be prejudicial."

He added that it would be difficult for Canada to participate in the force if conditions did not allow her to discharge her UNEF responsibilities satisfactorily. He hoped such conditions would not arise.

Mr. Pearson made his statement in response to opposition questions.

ERRONEOUS

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) asked about a news report that Mr. Hammarskjold has taken the position that Israel would have to withdraw from a small triangle of land in the Negev Desert—the El-Auja zone—in order to establish a right to send ships through the Suez Canal. Mr. Green said that seemed "an amazing stand."

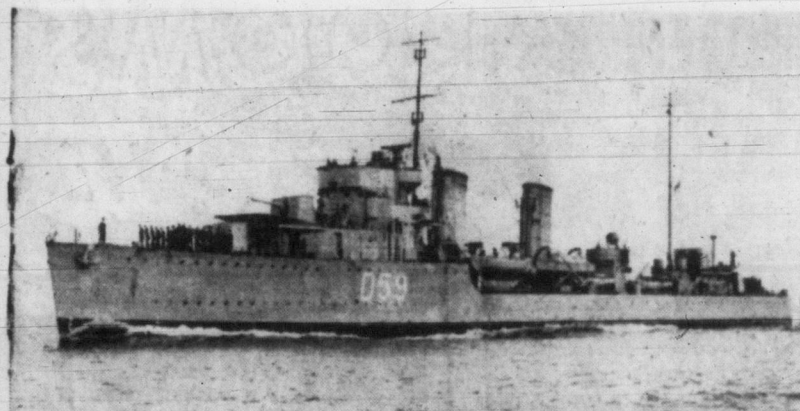

Mr. Pearson replied he had telephoned UN headquarters in New York earlier this morning and had been assured that the news report was wrong. He said it was a question of demilitarizing the El-Auja zone—not of Israel giving it up.

On the Gaza situation, Mr. Pearson informed Mr. Green that although UNEF troops are being deployed along the Egypt-Israel demarcation line in the Gaza area two-thirds of the force was still inside the Gaza Strip.

Canadians felt that Egypt should co-operate fully in allowing the UNEF to carry out its responsibilities. If Egypt was unwilling to do that, the UNEF task would be impossible and the matter should be referred immediately to the UN Assembly.

The problem was to find a practical balance between Egypt's "legal position" to administer the Gaza Strip under the 1949 armistice agreement and the "practical position" which the UN had to take.

New Punch, New Look Given to RCN In B.C.-Built Submarine-Killer Skeena

FIRST HMCS SKEENA in Canadian Navy was knife-prowed, two-stacker which was stationed on this coast from 1931 to beginning of Second World War, later won three battle honors which will be inherited by new Skeena. Old Skeena was driven ashore in 1944 gale. (See Page 17).

By MONTE ROBERTS

ABOARD "DDE 207," Strait of Georgia—On March 30, the wicked-looking, shark-nosed ship in which we are slicing through coastal waters will become Her Majesty's Canadian ship Skeena.

Today, on builder's trials with 70 press, radio and television representatives aboard, she's still "DDE 207," a ship with a number, awaiting her name.

DDE 207 still wears the red ensign, to be replaced with the white when she becomes a full-fledged fighting ship.

But in every other way, this is a living ship we're aboard—a ship packed with power and a bewildering of electronic controlled devices, designed with one purpose:

To hunt and kill submarines. This is one of 14 anti-submarine destroyer escorts which form the nucleus of Canada's new navy. And it is the first to be built, fitted out, and commissioned on the west coast.

DDE 207 will also be the first of the new class to be assigned to the Pacific Command. She'll be based at Esquimalt, as a member of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

There's a buzz that the west coast eventually will have six of the new DDEs now building or fitting-out, with the other eight stationed on the west coast.

Sharp Break With RN Design

Canada's current ship-building program marks a sharp break with our traditional dependency on the Royal Navy for design and building.

Formerly, Canadian destroyers were either built in the U.K. or, if built in Canada, patterned after U.K. ships.

The new DDE class is completely Canadian—designed and built, to suit the needs of Canada's navy.

The lead ship in the class, HMCS St. Laurent, was equipped with machinery manufactured in Britain. But Skeena-to-be is Canadian from the keel up, including the boilers and turbines which drive her through the water at a secret—but very, very fast—speed. She is the "product" of Burrard Drydock Ltd. of Vancouver.

This dispatch is being radio-telephoned from DDE 207's wireless "shack," which bears as much resemblance to the dit-dit-dar communications, room of other years as does the ice cream made aboard resemble hardtack and bully beef.

The room is a maze of equipment. To give you an idea—there are 12 separate telephone systems for internal communication within the ship. There are three radio rooms for transmitting and receiving on low, medium, high, very high and ultra-high frequencies.

A fourth radio room is equipped with direction finding equipment. In the message centre is a teletype, and the cryptographic room has highly secret coding and de-coding devices.

The electrical system is much more extensive and complex than those carried in Second World War ships of twice her size. Nearly every function of the vessel—armament, navigation, ventilation, air conditioning, communications, cooking—is dependent on electric power.

There are five generators capable of producing 1400 kilowatts—equal to the generating capacity of the aircraft carrier Magnificent—turning out enough power to service a city of 20,000 population.

And Skeena-to-be is quite a city in herself.

Her "population" in wartime would be 16 officers and 267 men. They live in a metal cocoon which can be completely "buttoned down" in event of atomic fall out.

DR. ADAMS MURDER TRIAL

Nurse Gave Dying Woman Injection Without Order

LONDON (CP)—A nurse who saw the death of the old lady Dr. John Bodkin Adams is accused of murdering testified today she gave the ailing woman an injection on her own responsibility an hour before she died.

"If you are right and your memory is right," demanded Geoffrey Lawrence, defence counsel, "there was a serious breach of duty that night."

"Yes," replied nurse Caroline Sylvia Randall.

"It is quite inexplicable?" "Yes."

Under intense questioning by defence, nurse Randall described the final hours of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell to a jury of 10 men and two women. Adams, 58-year-old bachelor, society doctor who is charged with fatally drugging the rich 81-year-old widow to gain an inheritance under her will, cocked an ear to listen attentively. The nurse testified she received £300 from Mrs. Morrell's will.

WITHDRAWS ACCUSATION

At the beginning of the cross-examination, Thursday Miss Randall had testified there was no justification for her earlier accusation at a preliminary hearing that heroin prescribed by Dr. Adams affected Mrs. Morrell adversely.

The stern-faced justice, Sir Patrick Arthur Devlin, started courtroom spectators by suddenly asking the Crown counsel whether he maintained that drugs administered Mrs. Morrell the night of her death were given "with the intention" of killing her.

Seemingly caught by surprise, Attorney-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller rose and after a pause replied: "I must say I do submit that they were given deliberately by Dr. Adams and they accelerated the death of the patient. But I won't elaborate. I adhere to that and my medical evidence will indicate why."

"I am very much obliged," said the judge politely. "That is what I wanted to know."

Miss Randall testified she gave Mrs. Morrell an injection of paraldehyde—a sleeping drug—an hour before the woman died but failed to record it in the case logbook.

The nurse said she could remember "how dreadful" Mrs. Morrell's jerks were as she neared the end of her life. But Lawrence stressed that the entries she had made in her nursing reports at the time referred not to jerking but to the patient being "very shaky."

Justice Sir Patrick Devlin intervened to ask the witness:

"Have you got, apart from what was written down, a clear recollection in your mind of her being jerky an hour and a half before she died?"

The middle-aged nurse replied: "I have, and I never want to see anything like it again."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Sidney Man Drowns After Walkway Fall

A 23-year-old Sidney man slipped from a walkway and drowned in Shoal Harbor about 12:20 a.m. today minutes after leaving friends at a nearby residence.

A coroner's inquiry was to be conducted at 3 p.m. by Dr. E. C. Hart.

Glen Harry Jacob Pearson, 1132 Sixth Street, was dragged from the harbor with a pike pole by friends and RCMP about 20 minutes after leaving the Shoal Harbor house of A. E. Towers, 2606 Bowker, Victoria.

Police said a cigarette package he had in his hand when he left the Towers house to board a boat owned by Dave Murch of Sidney, was the first sign of trouble.

Much went to his boat at the Towers float a few minutes after Pearson. He saw the cigarette package in the water, and immediately alarmed police and the victim's father.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

The Old Master Gets Fired Up

If Premier Bennett hadn't taken up politics he might have been a leading evangelist.

Listening to his flood of oratory on the $28 rebate to home-owners Thursday, my mind went back to a day in 1954 when I reported an address by American spellbinder Billy Graham before an audience of 100,000 at London's Wembley Stadium.

On a much smaller scale, the impact was similar—people craning forward in their seats, tense and excited as passionate words of appeal were thrown out at them by a man who seemed on fire with his subject.

"He's a hypnotist," observed one of my colleagues as the premier harangued the

CCF for opposing his pet scheme to encourage people to own their own homes.

And the more vehement he got the more vehement the premier became. He waved his black-rimmed glasses in broad, sweeping gestures, like a conductor's baton, and he shook a prophetic forefinger at the CCF as he cried:

"All Canada is watching you. And they are watching the Liberal party, too."

He teased Liberal members George Gregory (Victoria) and P. A. Gibbs (Oak Bay) for supporting the home-owners' bill when what he called the Liberal press—the Victoria Times and The Vancouver Sun—had condemned it.

Liberals Voted Solidly Against Times, Sun

"When I travel across Canada I shall say that all that was left of the once great Liberal party voted solidly against The Times and The Sun."

Mr. Bennett also attacked Tom Uphill, the 83-year-old Labor Independent member for Fernie after he had said of the government:

"They are as free from brains as an elephant is from hair."

Mr. Uphill denounced the rebate as a "vote-catcher" which offered no help to those who could not afford their own homes, and quoted the Biblical words, "Unto him that hath shall be given and from him that hath not shall be taken away."

"That is the spirit of this bill," he declared.

Later, when the premier took him severely to task, Mr. Uphill replied:

"Everything Was Believed But the Facts"

The words he quoted were: "Rumor wrote the history, gossip read the proofs, and everything was believed but the facts."

Dan Campbell (S.C. Comox) was passing cigars around the legislature Thursday on becoming the father of an eight-pound six-ounce baby girl.

The baby was born at St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox. "I don't yet know what we are going to call her," Mr. Campbell said, "but it will be something Irish."

Possibly the House was tired when it reassembled for a night sitting at 8:30 o'clock, and this may have been responsible for several slips of the tongue.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan led off by addressing Speaker Irwin as "Mister Swooker." Labor Minister Lyle Wicks then accused the CCF of "pointing the scorn of finger" at the government.

"That is, I mean the finger of scorn," Mr. Wicks amended. "Dear me, I must have French blood in me."

A few minutes later Health Minister Eric Martin asked leave to introduce "A Mact to mend the Adoption Act," hastily correcting it to: "An

sters' union, in a public hearing Tuesday.

Today, along with testimony from Brewster, the senators heard a staff investigator testify he found nothing in the union's records to reflect loans to Beck until 1954, when he said the Internal Revenue Service began investigating Beck's affairs.

This testimony came from Carmine Bellino, an accountant and investigator for congressional groups.

NO INTEREST PAID

Beck has said that he borrowed, but has since repaid, $300,000 to $400,000 of union funds without posting security or paying interest.

Bellino said reports to the government by the Seattle Teamsters' Joint, Council's Building Association showed accounts receivable at the end of 1953 as $7,422.89 but the next annual statement showed accounts receivable of $257,422.89.

The staff accountant said the union building association's cash receipts book then reflected a $200,000 repayment from Beck in August, 1954, and a later $50,000 payment.

Brewster came before the senators from U.S. district court, where he was arraigned on charges of contempt of Congress and entered a plea of not guilty.

REFUSED TO ANSWER

The charge grew out of his refusal to answer questions at an earlier senate inquiry.

Arraigned with Brewster, and also pleading not guilty was Elmer O. Mohr, executive vice-president of the teamsters.

Two lesser union officials also were scheduled for arraignment. Nigent La Poma, secretary-treasurer of teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, Wash., pleaded not guilty. Harry Reiss, welfare fund administrator of Local 227 in New York, did not answer when his name was called.

The judge set the trial dates at May 20 for Brewster, June 3 for Mohr, and May 27 for La Poma.

67 Missing Aboard U.S. Army Plane

TOKYO (AP) — Fear mounted tonight for the lives of 67 persons aboard a U.S. military transport plane which disappeared early today off Japan in stormy, shark-infested waters as it neared the end of its trans-Pacific flight.

Low clouds and rain squalls hampered air search and 30-foot swells reduced visibility of searching ships almost to zero.

The four-engine C-97 military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser, left Wake Island Thursday afternoon for Tokyo on the last leg of a flight from Travis air base near San Francisco.

The air force said 57 passengers and a crew of 10 were aboard, with the passengers including 27 air force personnel, 17 army and 10 navy, two civilian government employees (both men), and a woman military dependent.

All the crew, which included at least one woman, were members of the air force.

tary planning against Communist aggression in that area. It was explained that the next move would be a meeting of the pact council to consider the U.S. intention and to accept their offer, and that the American action in the military committee would be wholly confined to combatting Communist aggression, whereas under the terms of the pact the members could take action in defence against any aggression.

As the Bermuda talks continued, the United States seemed to evidence an increasing willingness to take part in the affairs of all nations outside the Soviet bloc. The American theory seemed to be that any effort to pull the free nations together to resist Russia was worthwhile.

Before going into afternoon meeting Eisenhower had lunch with his top defence and atomic advisers, who mapped the United States position on Anglo-American defence against the Soviet Union.

Joint production of atomic weapons and guided missiles to counter Russian boasts of globe-circling atom bombers was expected to be a major topic.

Under this agreement, he said Imperial Optical agreed to pay doctors the difference between invoice wholesale price and retail sale price on all glasses and lenses resulting from prescriptions issued by the doctors. The minimum amount set on each prescription "kickback," he said, was $4.50.

Mr. Grossman said that when the B.C. Medical Act of 1948 declared agreements of this type illegal the doctors were "scared" to take out their "kickback."

He claimed that $60,000 accumulated within the year between the act and establishment of Prescription Optical Co. Ltd. in September, 1947.

Rioting Women Wetted Down

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Fire hoses were used to quell a "minor riot" at the Manitoba jail for women here Thursday night, a fire department official said.

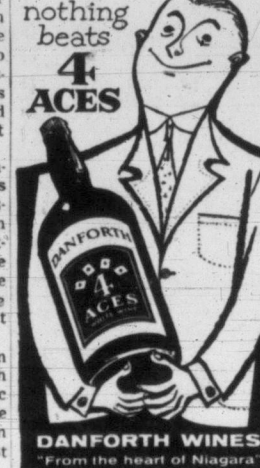

He said firemen called after the disturbance by seven women broke out in a basement kitchen "turned a couple of fire lines on them and wetted them down."

Firemen were back at their quarters within 50 minutes.

Jail officials and police referred all requests for information to Deputy Attorney-General O. M. H. Kay, who would not comment Thursday night.

However, it was reported the women involved broke "every dish they could lay their hands on."

No one was reported injured.

'Jowly' Philip Shocks Britons

LONDON (AP) — Britons were somewhat shocked today by a new portrait of Prince Philip showing him with jowls, a receding hairline and a grimace, a man who is going in one direction and does not propose to let anything prevent him.

The Mirror's art critic remarked on "the compelling eye" of the painting, which was unveiled in the Queen's Hall in the Fishmongers' Com as a playboy.

TCA Plan for Future

(From Times News Services)

Trans-Canada Air Lines is hopeful of a new Canada-U.S. air agreement that would give TCA some new routes in the U.S., president G. R. McGregor said Thursday.

He told the Commons railway committee, during its annual scrutiny of TCA affairs, that the publicly-owned line would like to operate directly between Winnipeg and Chicago and fly down the west coast between Vancouver and San Francisco.

While he said the U.S. appears unenthusiastic about renewing the agreement, he added that "we are hopeful at a full-blown bilateral agreement can be arranged in a non-to-distant future." Government officials said they are trying to get the two-year-old pact renegotiated at an early date, but it is not expected to be renewed until next year. The U.S. at the moment was displaying no anxiety to get Canadian routes that might be swapped for privileges below the border.

like Pensions Now, Urges Fleming

Progressive Conservative Don Fleming called on the government to act now, not wait for summer, in raising the social welfare payments announced in the budget.

"There is no need for any further delay," he said as he entered the budget debate with a sharply-worded attack on the budget presented a week ago by Finance Minister Harris.

The member for Toronto Eginton, runner-up for his party's leadership in December, said that if it were not for the approaching election pensioners could be waiting for the government to boost payments.

"They would still be waiting for the government to act in which his moribund government finds itself."

Justice Minister Carson, following Mr. Fleming in the debate, said the Conservatives have expressed "a policy of complete irresponsibility."

In the face of inflation, they had called for bigger tax cuts and bigger social welfare payments, he said.

Mr. Carson was replying to opposition charges that the federal surplus in the last 12 months and a forecast surplus in the fiscal year starting April constitute over-taxation of Canadians.

He said that a surplus does not "add to the fires of inflation." It was money taken from the taxpayers which was spent either by the taxpayers or by the government. It corrected inflation.

J. M. Macdonnell, Conservative financial spokesman, interrupted to say that when the surplus is used to pay off government debt, the money goes into the hands of others who could spend it. Mr. Carson disagreed.

Mr. Fleming said that if savings will help defeat inflation, the government should let the people save out of their own money.

"This government does not trust the people with their own money," he said. "The government was over-taxing the people not in order to save but to spend more."

Railmen Claim Discrimination In Welfare Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBRE) wants to appear before the Commons railway committee to take issue with evidence given earlier this week by CNR president Donald Gordon.

The CBRE said Thursday it has asked the committee to withhold its report to the Commons on the CNR's annual presentation until a Toronto delegation has presented evidence.

The Toronto group represents 3,500 union members in the Toronto area.

CBRE national secretary-treasurer Don Secord said the delegation intends to present evidence that the CNR discriminated against union employees in a health and welfare plan that went into effect Jan. 1. Mr. Gordon, appearing before the committee this week, denied this.

Chicago Fire Routs Mayor

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire swept through sections of Chicago's city-county building Thursday night, routing more than 100 persons including the mayor.

More than a score of persons were led or carried to safety, many of them down ladders, from the 12-storey structure. Included were several women who were trapped in upper floors.

Three firemen and a telephone repairman were injured, none severely, after the fire broke out at 6 p.m.

Damage to the grey stone building was estimated at $250,000 by Mayor Richard J. Daley.

BRASS KNUCKLES, CLASP KNIVES SEIZED

Six Carloads of Police Quell Toronto High School Dance Riot

TORONTO (CP)—Six police cars were called to a central Toronto school Thursday night when a fight broke out at a community centre dance.

Police seized a set of home-made brass knuckles, a piece of lead, several pieces of iron and a number of clasp knives from youths at the dance.

Six youths were taken to a police station for questioning.

Two supervising teachers were treated for facial cuts in hospital.

A Choice of Four Policies

THE FOUR PARTIES IN PARLIAMENT agree at least on one proposition—inflation is a bad thing and it exists in Canada today.

Thus the argument in Parliament this week concerns only the best method of fighting inflation. Four separate methods have now appeared.

The Government's methods are known, though not thoroughly understood, because they are in action. They consist of keeping the money supply roughly equated to the supply of goods and services; letting the money market set interest rates by the law of supply and demand; maintaining a budgetary surplus.

The CCF's long-term policy assumes a general state supervision of the national economy. Since that cannot be enforced now, the CCF would try to hold down prices by more drastic taxes on business profits, though these taxes would certainly be handed on to the public in the form of prices.

Social Credit believes that the real trouble is an inadequate supply of money. Create and pump out more money, says Mr. Low, and everything will be all right.

The policy of the Conservative Opposition is more complex and interesting. It demands a drastic reduction in taxes and the end of the revenue surplus. This would increase public purchasing power and the total demand for goods—unless, of course, it were accompanied by a corresponding reduction in governmental expenditures. The Conservative Party seems to understand that and therefore demands a drastic cut in the Government's spending.

That proposition, standing alone, makes good sense. Unfortunately the Conservative Party destroys its proposition by demanding increased state spending. In one breath it advocates economy. In the next it proposes a further large increase in old age pensions, larger subsidies to the provincial governments, a huge national development program (never explained), subsidies for farmers and many other things, the cost of which would be gigantic.

No one knows exactly what the cost would be, since the various spending plans have not been explained in detail—and were ratified by the last Conservative convention with virtually no debate.

It is certain, however, that these expenditures combined would not only wipe out the Government's surplus but would produce a large deficit, unless taxes were increased.

It is difficult to imagine, in one package, a wilder set of contradictions. But the Conservative Party has thought up another. It attacks interest rates as too high. Since those rates are not fixed by the Government but by the law of supply and demand as borrowers bid for money, it follows that interest rates can be reduced only if the supply of money is increased; that is to say, if the currency is further inflated.

In other words, the Conservative Party, denouncing inflation, has approved just about every known method of fomenting it. And, almost word for word, the Conservative Party has repeated the well-known views of Mr. Bennett.

Such are the four fiscal policies between which the electors must soon choose.

Sound and Fury No Answer

THE LEGISLATURE AND THE public were promised discussion of the Stewart-Cassiar road debate. They have been given sound and fury.

The public knows that shouting and forced laughter do not constitute debate nor provide answers to questions. The public does not know, as the result of this form of government reply, what happened on the Cassiar road project, nor how much of its money, if any, was wasted.

If it has been impressed by any remark during Wednesday night's legislative demonstration, it is that of Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

"It is obvious," said Mr. Strachan, "that the government shouts the loudest when in the biggest trouble."

In the course of the Wednesday night performance opposition members pressed for answers to certain questions. Those answers were not forthcoming. What misgivings the public may hold on the whole unsavory Cassiar-Stewart road question, have not been allayed.

Apart from showing how a legislature, particularly a government with a large majority, should not behave, the event proved a significant point. It proved that the matter should have been referred back to a special committee.

That special committee could have adduced evidence from witnesses in a position to present facts. It could have removed any misunderstanding by certain members on what was hearsay and what was direct evidence.

But Mr. Bennett made sure the issue should not be referred back to the committee when he used his majority to vote down that suggestion.

When the premier took that course a few days ago, this newspaper asked why. It asks why again. A Donnybrook in the legislature may avoid providing answers to vital questions and obscure the significant issues for the moment. It does not clear up a situation which looks worse to the taxpaying public every time a frank explanation is evaded by the government.

No Overnight Solution

DISCUSSIONS ON BRITISH COLUMBIA Indians in the Legislature and outside it in recent days have reflected little credit on the natives or on efforts by this province to improve their status.

Mr. Cyril Shefford has suggested Indian affairs be transferred to the province because Ottawa is too far away and the Indians "have no vote."

"There are lots of things wrong and it's time we stood up and faced them," he says.

There are lots of things wrong. But British Columbia can face them without having the natives removed from federal jurisdiction.

To provide assistance to Indians in their advancement to full citizenship, a previous B.C. government set up a special continuing committee. Mr. Shefford might very properly ask what that committee is doing and what it has accomplished. He might also ask whether or not the progress of natives has been accelerated or delayed since the committee lost its full-time secretary, Mr. Reg. Kelly, himself a Haida, to the federal department.

The member for Omineca might also offer his opinions on the suggestion of Mr. Jack White, director of vocational training, that the province is not encouraging enough of the natives to take trade training. That seems to be a logical response to the general remarks of Mr. Max Campbell, CCF member for the Battlefords, in the Federal House. Mr. Campbell fears that many Indians leaving reservations are becoming "a generation of bums" because they don't know how to work.

Talk of this nature calls for an assessment of the native's position. It is not too inspiring, although a growing number of Indians are enjoying more and better education than they have had in the past. A high degree of co-operation exists between British Columbia's department of education and the Federal Government in the creation of joint schools for whites and Indians where buildings can be combined in a satisfactory way.

Greater interest is being taken in the cultural heritage of the natives. More significance is being attached to their art forms. Little by little the discriminations once practiced against them are disappearing.

In this province they have the vote. Liquor regulations resented by them are being relaxed. They are being encouraged to equip themselves for jobs in the society which is replacing their own, and to acquiring housing of a higher standard.

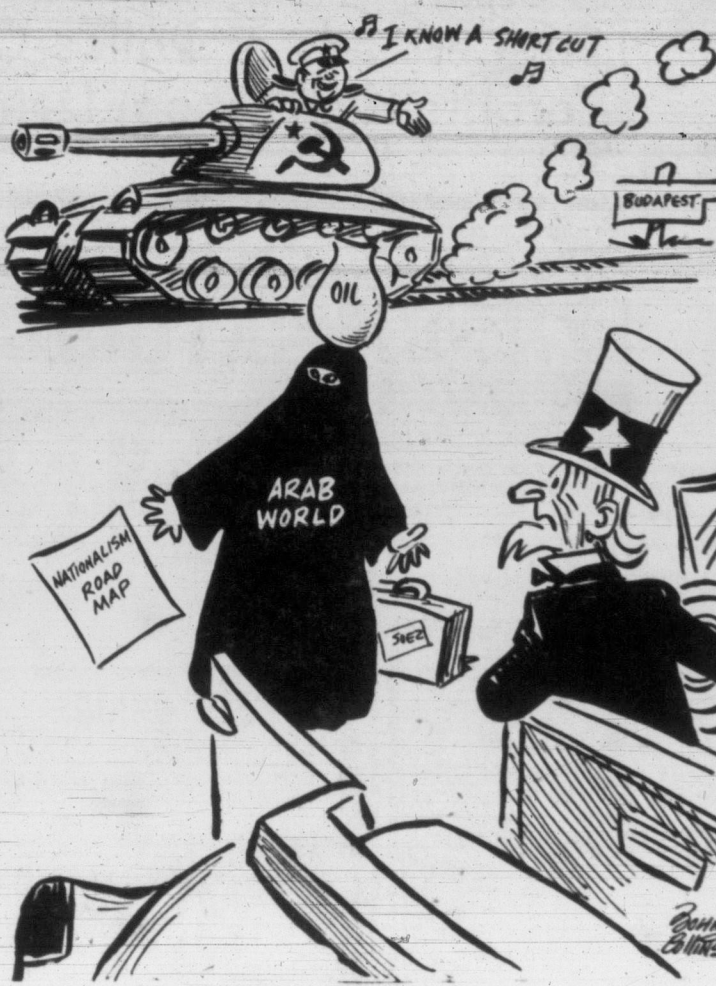

They can, if they wish, assume all the rights and responsibilities of full citizenship by becoming enfranchised. Many of the more progressive among them have taken that course.

That does not, of course, relieve all Indians of the problems created by the changed world with which they have to cope. Modern society is not something of their own creation, or, in many instances, of their choosing. It is, nevertheless, upon them and they are required to make their adjustments to it.

Mr. Shefford is quite right in saying that "there are lots of things wrong and it's time we stood up and faced them." That is part of the responsibility of Canadian citizenship.

More power to the member for Omineca and those who are dissatisfied with efforts made to date to improve the position of the Indian. But while these efforts should never be relaxed, it should not be assumed that solutions for the problems—many of them made by the Indians themselves—will be found overnight.

Go in My Way?

THAT WORRIED LOOK

By B. A. TOBIN

What's on Your Mind?

THESE are stern times, as anyone who looks up from his television screen for a moment will readily recognize. We are faced with terrible problems on every hand. Some of the most terrible we may not even know about.

If we haven't yet read our evening paper. But they are there—international, national, local, domestic—waiting to pounce on our minds and worry us the moment we find out about them. And many people do not even wait for the worries to arrive. They have become adept at creating worries out of nothing, so that hard facts are not necessary.

They can build a good, usable worry out of the raw material, so to speak, without the need to fashion a proper worry-object. It is as though one did not wait for the chocolates to be fashioned from their ingredients, but scooped up a mouthful of sugar, flavoring and color and absorbed them in a formless but equally potent dose.

Some folks, for instance, will worry about the Suez Canal, the problem of the Gaza Strip, the Bermuda conference and other concrete items.

Others, with only the dimmest of ideas what these specific things are all about, are quite content to worry in a wide and general way about the "world situation." At any given moment they could not tell you exactly what was wrong in any given part of the world, but they know that things in general are bad all over and that's enough for them.

Out From Under

Small wonder then, that, except for people who really enjoy their worry and would not give it up on any account, a large majority of the inhabitants of the civilized world today are engrossed in ways to escape the weight on their minds. And when you come right down to it, it's hard to name an activity that in one way or another, does not act as an escape mechanism in a world that has grown intolerable to its occupants.

(Another way to put that is to say that the occupants have grown intolerant of the world, but that's perhaps too true to be bandied about in public.)

The arts, of course, are a recognized, and perhaps the highest form, of escape mechanism. In music, literature, painting, dancing the harsh realities of existence can be subdued, the protective elements of sentiment, affection and aspiration can be highlighted and life made a more pleasurable and rewarding thing.

But this is only one avenue of escape. The daily round of work itself, with its routine and its habit-forming grooves, is an escape from reality. Sports and other forms of physical recreation fill the bill for many. Charitable works—are they always essentially charitable, or are they often a form of escape from some personal problem for those who perform them?

Scientific research and pure mathematics, like art, offer a supreme escape for a limited few.

War can be mankind's greatest escape from reality, for what activity of man is more camouflaged with idealistic motives and noble purposes than the mass slaughter in which we periodically indulge?

So great a force as religion is for many an escape. They see in religion not so much an agency through which they can do good to others as one in which they can avoid harm to themselves. Rather than seek out dragons and cage them, they jump into the cage themselves and lock the door. Assuredly comfort and reassurance are proper functions of any religion, but these provide escape, not triumph.

Too Much for Us

It is well, perhaps, that mankind does not tend to dwell too much on its overall situation. The little worries are quite adequate for most of us. Those of cosmic proportions would prove overwhelming.

Consider our plight: tiny specks of living matter on an insignificant dab of dust in a vast, freezing, whirling cosmos.

We inherit for a few brief moments a terrifying mechanism of deadly radiation which our senses perceive as heat, light, energy and matter in wave or solid form. Of all the environments in which to find human life as we know it, the universe surely is the least likely.

A fortunate canopy of thin gas covers our planet to protect us from heat, cold and cosmic rays which would otherwise quickly annihilate us. We are as out of place in our physical universe as a vase of violets in a boiler-plant or a fudge sundae in a boiler-plant.

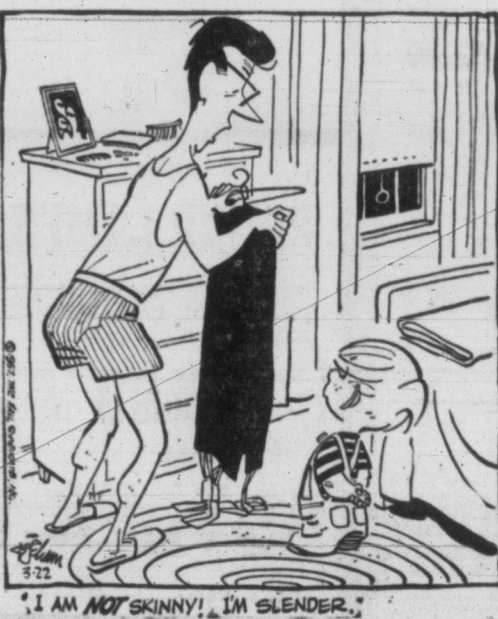

Oh no, the big worries are not for us. Let us take refuge in the little worries, let us seek escape in minor tragedies and secondary dramas. It has been truly said, "no man can look upon the face of God and live." It is sufficient triumph for most of us, on encountering a mirror, to be able to look ourselves in the face.

MAN OF THE DAY

Of all his contemporaries, Daniel Defoe seems to be the one whom it would be least difficult to imagine walking the streets of London today, doing a public relations job, running a business at the same time, turning out popular documentary-adventure books, ghosting biographies, giving a talk, now and again for the BBC—in short, making writing his trade and his craft in a determination to survive the difficulties of his time; and in the course of it, let me add, throwing up to his own astonishment a masterpiece like "Robinson Crusoe."

Why Not Finlayson Point?

In the discussions and suggestions relative to a suitable recognition of Victoria's centennial year, I am rather surprised that no mention seems to have been made of one place which, it seems to me, lends itself most to suitable remembrance.

This is Finlayson Point. In the path overlooking one of the finest views of the Strait, the memorial plaque sets this point as the landing place of the first white man, and the site of a fortified Indian encampment.

On either side are quite historical points of interest, Horseshoe Bay with its rock strata from the ice age. This, too, was the place of Marilyn Bell's first unsuccessful attempt on the Strait, and on the other side the place of landing on her successful swim.

The memorial plaque notes also that Finlayson Point was the site at a later date of two ninety-eight pound cannon set as a defense against an expected invasion by the Russians. Our defensive technique seems to have improved, but alas we have the same old enemy, a reminder of the Scottish proverb, "You may build new ships, but there will always be the same old rocks."

Could not similar cannon be mounted, or, if unavailable, new ones cast?

"A LOVER OF VICTORIA"

Six-Day Shopping

I read the item in your paper headed, "Full Six-Day Shopping Backed by Merchants."

Could one of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group set me straight on the following statements? You mentioned that the retail groups are in favor of a six-day shopping week but I'm sure you must mean the retail merchants, not the retail clerks.

You also mentioned a gentleman by the name of Bruce Tingley. Could you furnish me with the information of how long Mr. Tingley has been a resident of Victoria, as I am led to believe he has only resided here a couple of years. If so, how does he know so much about the tourist trade?

I have been a resident of Victoria 67 years and in business for over 40 years. I can't see your reason for wanting to stay for six days a week. Tourists must be here 48 hours to take back merchandise over $10.

TOMMY PEDEN;

(Ed. Note: Mr. Tingley has been actively interested in tourism for the past five years.)

'We Intend to Watch You'

"Dare to be a Daniel"—and my congratulations for taking such a role your open letter of March 11, 1937.

While it is too much to hope for that a man of the calibre of W. A. Bennett could see through the thin phantasmagoria (?) veneer of this financial I can't understand why there are no more British Columbians who are sufficiently awake to realize that their birthright is being subtly wrested from them and to rise up against it.

Why do we sit idly by and let our administrations of the immediate past and present be thrust upon us?

"DISGUSTED."

Save It for Posterity

May I congratulate you on your "Open Letter to Wenner-Gren." It gives one a little more faith in our democracy to see such sentiments courageously expressed in a free press.

It remains to unseat an audacious political opportunist who has publicly announced that his government is prepared to deal with anyone—just so that they have the money.

A less unfortunate utterance by the late W. L. MacKenzie King cost him a election. Perhaps if we give this fellow rope enough he will hang himself. But can it be done in time to save a little of this province for our own posterity?

C. M. SMITH.

'Never Had It So Good'

Letters have appeared in the paper criticizing myself on the remark I made in the House that "Nurses never had it so good." First, I would clarify how this statement came to be made.

The member for Alberni, Mr. J. Squire, was berating the Government for the poor working conditions of nurses, claiming that nurses spent three years in training and then were only able to acquire $1.36 per hour. I thought Mr. Squire's remarks unfair because the nursing profession has improved salaries a great deal in recent years.

Most young girls become graduate nurses at the age of 21 or 22. The education requirement is Grade XII.

According to my information, the lowest wages paid nurses in British Columbia is $220 per month. The average starting salary is $235 per month for a 40-hour week. This, I am told, is the minimum. The Department of Health maintains that relatively few nurses work for this scale and it applies to floor nurses only, which is the lowest rung on the ladder as far as their profession is concerned.

Operating room nurses receive from $265 to $300 and their supervisors, $337 to $370. Nurses in charge of sterilizers and supplies receive salaries ranging from $298 to $330 per month and public health nurses $255 to $327. Uniforms are laundered free. They may accumulate sick leave at the rate of 1 1/2 days per month, in some cases up to 120 days. Their meals are supplied at reduced rates or sometimes at actual cost.

They have 10 statutory holidays a year, work a 40-hour week—and, in addition, receive four weeks' vacation with pay.

When you consider this wage rate for nurses against that of girls in any other enterprise or profession, it stands high.

If you would be kind enough to give space to this letter I think it might act as an incentive to young girls to enter the nursing profession. This profession offers a wonderful future for a girl serves a public benefit and a training that will be valuable to her throughout her life. To any knowledge, it offers remuneration unequalled in other lines of enterprise. Salaries of nurses are substantially higher in British Columbia than elsewhere in Canada.

When Mr. Squire indicated the Government, through Hospital Insurance Service, was responsible for poor living conditions for our nurses, I felt his statement most unfair and so made the comment "They never had it so good."

In my opinion, many nurses in this province will agree.

BERT PRICE,

M.L.A. Vancouver-Burrard.

FROM LONDON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The 'Good Arabs'

THE Bermuda meeting between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has a double-edged importance. It is about the last chance to save the Anglo-American partnership and the Western Alliance. Yet the prospects of success are not at all bad, despite the ugly shadows cast by the Gaza crisis. This Gaza crisis, with all its mortifying disclosures of phony-American promises which are now being broken in record time, is essentially a mere interim payment for the follies of all the Western partners in the Suez crisis.

Alsop

The real test of President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan is to find a way to dodge the final payment for those follies. Payment would be nothing less than the destruction of all the vital Western interests in the Middle East by inflamed Arab-nationalists led by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and strongly supported by the Soviet Union.

If this final payment is exacted—particularly if the oil sources are nationalized—the effect on the Western Alliance and most particularly on the Anglo-American partnership will be downright catastrophic.

Facing Facts

But the first hopeful factor is the grim-bout-of-fact-fact that has been going on here in Britain. British power and influence in the Middle East, which have always been overestimated in London, have now altogether ceased to exist. They have therefore got to be replaced by American power and influence, if anything at all is to be saved from the wreck.

Fortunately, the members of the inner circle of British policymakers have faced these unpleasant facts. It is a hard blow to British pride. It will cause much friction, before it is all over. But they are now willing to commit the protection of their Middle Eastern interests to American hands.

As for the second hopeful factor, it is the gradual emergence of relatively serious American policy for the Middle East, not based on moralistic prating, and not characterized either by hasty unloading of national responsibilities into the leaky vessel of the United Nations.

Curiously enough, this new American policy rather closely resembles the 'old' British policy. It is based on rallying and reinforcing the Arab leaders not implacably hostile to the West—"good Arabs" as Sir Anthony Eden used to call them.

It is a considerably more practical policy for the United States than it was for Britain. On the one hand, American influence does not yet bear the colonialist taint, so it is less embarrassing for the "good Arabs" to turn to America. On the other hand, the United States has what Britain never had, friendly relations with the most important "good Arab," King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

In fact, the first test of the new American policy's success will be whether King Saud really was persuaded, during his visit to Washington, to cease financing the propaganda and policy of President Nasser in the other Arab states.

Fortunately, the really important Arab governments, the governments of the oil-producing states and Sheikdoms are all still in the "good Arab category."

Constant Appeals

Despite President Nasser's constant appeals to the mobs in their countries to install other governments, Nuri Pasha of Iraq and all the others are still successfully hanging on.

If they can now be reinforced and rallied, the worst potential consequences of the Suez debacle will have been avoided. But this task on which the American policymakers have now at last embarked is extremely delicate and complex.

All the complexities must be examined and resolved at Bermuda, more over. As a practical matter, for instance, clear agreements must be made about the way to handle the very touchy human problem that is bound to arise in certain Middle Eastern capitals.

In these places, the British Ambassador has always behaved almost as a vicerey, while his American colleague has never been more, in Hamlet's phrase than an attendant lord. Reversing the roles will not be easy. And it will require cards-on-the-table negotiation.

Tells Nothing

Hence the main reason for qualifying one's optimism is simply the personality of John Foster Dulles. The Secretary of State prefers to tell nothing to anyone, even in his department. He detests putting the cards on the table, especially for allies. He and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd also carry a leaden luggage of bitter Suez memories.

In other words, Anglo-American agreement on a new Middle Eastern policy is now theoretically possible. But if this agreement is to be reached, and the Western Alliance is thereby to be saved, President Eisenhower will almost surely have to carry the ball in person at Bermuda. (Copyright 1937, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

From Our Files

March 22, 1897 — Weeks of talk along Wharf Street crystallized today in the chartering of the schooner Aurora for an expedition to Cocos Island to seek buried treasure.

March 22, 1917 — George Bell, Victoria MPP, presented to the Legislature today a widely-signed petition from cities and individuals seeking exemption from taxation for churches.

March 22, 1937 — The Vancouver Sun published on time today although its editorial staff had to move to temporary quarters following an early morning fire which did $300,000 damage to editorial and business offices.

Breaking a Monopoly

WHEN the B.C. Telephone Company began to spot outdoor booths around this city, it showed some appreciation for an important social concept and its customary business cumen. Only the company did not go far enough.

Obviously the more thoughtful executives of the B.C. Telephone organization, discussed the deeper significance of the instruments they rent out. They obviously figured the business is pretty sound and at people are so used to phones they feel they can't do without them.

But the thoughtful executives doubtless went a stage further in their study. They unquestionably arrived at the important truth that in any household, maintaining teenagers, use of the telephone is peculiar teenage-monopoly. From that location of outdoor boxes was an obvious development.

"Look," they probably said, "perhaps the lulls in the house want to phone some time. It's help them. We'll put boxes outside and they can dial anyone in the district at a dime time. We have to give service. Besides, here's money in it."

ROWDED
Unfortunately there are three difficulties confronting this broad new project of community service. It's a little inconvenient standing all evening in an outdoor box waiting for an anticipated incoming call. So, it's crowded if many parents in one locality are waiting around at the same time. And that, there are not yet enough booths scattered throughout the residential areas to provide adequate home service.

Parents will give the company an A for fort and be forced to try some other means of gaining access to phones. There is a simple technique, other than that of bringing a light cross sharply against the left side of phoning teenager's chin.

No experienced parent nowadays rushes to answer the phone when it rings. That's a waste of time and energy, since the call is most invariably for a son or daughter. The parent lets the child answer. If a mother or father wants a quiet evening, he or she can just sit back at that point and read a book. The juvenile conversation will last almost until bedtime or be followed by a succession of calls that run away with the hours.

But if the parent wants to establish some right to telephonic communication, there is an uncomplicated way of doing it.

All he has to do is trail the youngster out to the phone and lean against the wall while junior or the young lady answers.

The adult, skilled in this practice, will start by parroting the child's greeting. "Hello," he'll say, up and down the scale with the proper arpeggios and variations—and in a voice loud enough for the party on the other end of the line to hear.

Then he'll join in the conversation, making it a three-way deal. "Is that Randolph?" he'll ask the young lady at the phone, being careful to use a boy's name other than that of the lad who customarily calls.

If the young lady, with usual teenage sangfroid, ignores him and continues the conversation with the giggles which are 67 per cent of a teenager's telephone talk, he'll lean close to the receiver and ask: "What did he say? What's the joke? Who are you talking about?"

The young lady will continue to pretend, he's not there, but she isn't fooling anybody. And when the parent gets around to asking "Is that Charlie inviting you to the dance on Friday night?" he can be pretty sure the conversation will end soon.

CRUEL BUT
Now it's quite possible that this little technique may reduce the young lady to tears. And unquestionably it's a very rude way of fighting a phone monopoly. But tears are better than the blood and sweat that might come from physically removing children from telephones.

Beyond that, there's an excellent defence for parental participation in teenage phoning. A parent's supposed to take a direct interest in his children, isn't he? He's expected to join his youngsters in their enjoyments, make them family occasions. That's all he's doing as he leans against the wall and takes part in the evening ritual inspired by Mr. Bell.

Of course the child may not appreciate it. May be discouraged from pursuing the ritual. But that's what the parent wanted in the first place, isn't it?

OUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Old-Fashioned Diagnoses

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Thousands of people used to be operated on for adhesions, but I fear they seldom got much of a result. Fortunately, today, this operation has largely gone out of fashion. In my 25 years at the Mayo Clinic, I doubt if I ever saw a patient sent in for an operation for adhesions. To be sure, many persons, when their abdomen was opened or some reason, were found to be full of adhesions, but seldom did the surgeons believe that these adhesions had caused any of the distress complained of. Incidentally, I fear that usually, when adhesions are cut or pulled apart, they tend to form again.

Fortunately, after an operation, the adhesions that form tend to loosen up. Only rarely do they cause any intestinal obstruction. I remember patients who, at an operation for some illness, were found full of adhesions, and yet they had had no indigestion, abdominal pain, or constipation. That is why I say that I do not know if adhesions reduce symptoms; and if they do, I do not know what they are. Every year I see persons who were once operated on for adhesions, but hardly a one got much of a result.

I am afraid that often, when physicians are in a hurry, when the reception room is full, and some woman, as she is being dismissed, holds us up to ask why her abdomen is so uncomfortable, we do not behave as we should. Instead of saying that we have not yet determined what the trouble is, or instead of spending half an hour next day trying to explain that several things might cause the distress, or instead of saying that almost certainly it is due to nervousness, we are inclined to hazard a guess that it is due to adhesions, or a bad appendix, or "colitis," and to hope that, until we have more time to study the woman, this will satisfy her.

QUESTIONABLE DISEASE

Through the years we doctors have tended to use for the purpose of quickly satisfying patients a number of diagnoses which, for periods of time, have become popular. For instance, when I was a young man, one of the most popular diagnoses with which to quiet a patient was "intestinal autointoxication."

YOUR INCOME TAX

Full Working Time Must Be Disclosed
By W. GORDON HOLMES, C.A.
You must tell the Income Tax Department how you spent your working time during the full 12 months of 1956.

For instance, if a taxpayer lists his period of employment at eight months and leaves it at that, his return will mark time in the income tax office until the 12 months is properly accounted for. This is hard on the taxpayer if he is waiting for a refund.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

For Lovely Change Try Summer Bulbs

For something beautiful and different in the garden this year, plant a few summer flowering bulbs.

The ones to be described here may not all be easy to purchase but they are worth the search.

A few may be so seldom grown locally that you may need to place an order for delivery next spring. With others you may find a nurseryman who has some which he will dig for you next fall when the bulbs are dormant.

The hardest of those I shall mention is Galtonia candicans or Hyacinthus candicans, sometimes called the summer hyacinth. Bulbs of a flowering size are quite large, and the flower spikes which rise from them are four to five feet tall. The white snowdrop-like bells hang in loose clusters, quite showy among dark green leaves in a shrub border. A well-drained soil will preserve them over winter.

Requiring a choice situation in a raised bed or border in a sunny corner protected from summer winds, Crinum powellii will be the belle of the late summer garden. From large bulbs rise thick fleshy stems bearing from three to seven amaryllis-like blossoms of a delicate pink color and a delicious fragrance. The leaves resent the battering of summer winds, which makes preferable a sheltered situation where they will be quite safe over winter if planted about six inches deep.

Smaller bulbs which require lifting each fall for storing over winter, are Sparaxis tricolor in many color combinations, Ixia in many delicate pastel shades, Tritonia crocata resembling freesia without their perfume, tigridia (the Mexican tiger flower), a brilliant three-petalled beauty for a sunny spot, and the increasingly popular Acidanthera muriei (Abyssinian saffron), or perfumed star-flower, also delightfully fragrant.

Another quite hardy June flowering bulb is Ixolirion latifolium, bearing lovely deep lavender.

PRIEST SAYS:

B.C. Indians Less Advanced Than Africans
WILLIAMS LAKE (CP)—Some backward tribes in Africa have made more progress towards the white man's way of life in 30 years than many British Columbia Indians have in almost a century, says a Roman Catholic priest.

The comparison was drawn by Father Morris, for many years an Oblate missionary and now principal of a 300-pupil Indian residential school near here.

"In Africa, natives are running their own schools. But right here in B.C. we have been trying since 1867, and achieved nothing comparable," he said in an interview.

In this central B.C. area there are 2,700 Indians, mainly Shuswaps, Chilcotins and Carriers. They vary from primitive groups who speak little or no English and live in huts, to the "better-off" group who have electricity in their huts and drive cars.

Changes in the administration of provincial jails will be brought about by an Act given first reading in the Legislature Thursday night.

The bill provides for appointment of a "director of correction" who will superintend all jails in the province and correlate administration. He will have wider powers than the present inspector of gaols.

Club Hears German-Born Swami

He walked down Government Street with massive and imponderable dignity, stepping deliberately and slowly as befitting a monk who has walked the length of the sub-continent, India.

Swami Aghananda Bharati, German-born Leonard Fisher, abbot of a monastery in Northern India, was en route to address the Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Thursday.

Rarely has a more paradoxical situation been presented Rotary here.

The club is predominantly British, perhaps on the conservative side, stable businessmen. The Swami was in the Wermacht, certainly unconservative, according to the west's best traditions, is vowed to poverty and is an Indian monk.

But he made them listen and laugh.

ANCIENT ORDER

His six-foot seven-inch 280-pound frame towering over the microphone, in a clear, soft but unaccented voice he told of year-long wanderings as a mendicant prior to acceptance in the 1,200-year-old Saanyasi order.

He told of his 1,500-mile walk, living on charity, equipped only with brass begging bowl and habit, in bare feet, not allowed to accept a single rupee.

It is a training monks of his order undergo before final consecration.

Explained the Swami: "Begging in India is a well-established and honorable enterprise. Even Buddha did this."

His "monastic march" would start in the early morning before the day's heat. Entering a village, he'd pronounce a blessing. Before going to the fields the villagers would gather with staple foods—rice, wheat, cakes and lentils.

But no meat. The monks are not allowed to partake, and, in fact, few villagers can afford it anyway.

Food is so taken from persons in seven households, as not to put too much of a strain on any one home, he said. The day is spent in prayer in the temple—and in the evenings answering religious and personal questions of residents.

The sequence is repeated day after day, except during the rainy season of four months when the travelling mendicant stops over at some monastery.

Daytime heat ranges from cold dry days of 90 to 100 degrees to hot dry days of 102 to 141 degrees.

The attentive audience started to sweat, mentally, and the bespectacled Swami, sensing this, said: "It's not as bad as all that, gentlemen."

He had words of advice for those visiting India: Forget the Asian tourist agencies; forget northern India; go to the south.

"The south has the purest form in the dance, architecture, music."

This is because northern India was always the source of invasion and many cultural heritages were thereby destroyed.

The Swami, in western clothes, has the appearance of an itinerant wrestler. But when he speaks, the difference is pronounced.

He received a loud un-monk-like ovation.

Nine-Year-Old Boy

Drowns in Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The body of nine-year-old Raymond J. Liddle Jr., who fell through the ice on a creek Jan. 22 and was drowned, was found Thursday in the Niagara River. The creek empties into the Niagara.

SWAMI'S CRACK HAS ROTARIANS
HOLDING SIDES

Even a Saanyasi monk who spent a big slice of his life wandering barefoot over India begging for a living can have a sense of fun.

Swami Aghanandi Bharati proved this Thursday when addressing the Rotary Club.

The Swami looked down compassionately.

'Human Bomb' Near Death,
Police Say

MONTREAL (CP)—Police circles reported Thursday their growing belief that Andre DeBlois, 24, the "human-bomb" shot down March 8 in a desperate bank robbery bid, hasn't long to live.

They said the shot that felled the dynamite-laden man cut a vital portion of the spinal column and that the paralysis now extending from neck to feet will gradually extend upward.

They said they based their belief on reports from doctors at the Montreal Neurological Institute.

Detective Lieutenant Marc Maurice said he still has not been able to get a written declaration from the man.

LUMBER FIRM WALKOUT

WESTBRIDGE—Thirty-five members of Local 1-423 of the International Woodworkers of America walked off their jobs at the Willa Lumber Co. plant here Thursday after last-minute negotiations between management and union officials failed to resolve a contract dispute.

Saanich
Farmer
Fined $25Dairy Inspectors
Barred From Herd

A Saanich farmer who, feared losing his dairy herd was fined $25 in Saanich police court Thursday when convicted for refusing a livestock inspection.

Byron McNutt, 4149 Grange, had pleaded not guilty to the charge, laid under the Contagious Diseases Animals Act, 1956, after agriculture department inspectors Winston C. Newby and Abraham Kidd were refused admittance to the herd.

They were to conduct a routine blood test for brucellosis in the animals.

Mr. McNutt told the court he objected to his cattle being tested because the government, which can order a test at any time, does not recompense a farmer for condemned stock.

If he lost his cattle, he said, "then I'd be out of business after 30 years of the best years of my life."

AGREES UNDER PROTEST

Magistrate H. C. Hall set the minimum fine on condition McNutt would allow future tests, to which he agreed under protest.

Dr. Newby and Dr. Kidd went to McNutt's farm Feb. 19 to arrange for the test Feb. 28. They were told to put the request in writing, which they did and delivered later that day.

On their second visit, Dr. Newby said McNutt told them they would need a search warrant to enter the premises in future.

The veterinarians went to Saanich police for advice, and when they returned Feb. 28 to make the inspection they were accompanied by two policemen assigned to keep the peace.

McNutt told them they could not touch his cattle, Dr. Newby said, and charges were subsequently laid.

A second charge, of impeding inspection, was withdrawn. Since the attempt to inspect, McNutt's herd has been quarantined because of an outbreak of brucellosis, bacteria of which may cause undulant fever in humans.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Saanich police court Thursday: David Joseph Barker, 2136 Arbutus, $30 for driving without a licence.

Joseph James Arsenault, 596 Prince Robert, $25 for driving without current plates.

Peter Edward Smart, 2928 Blackwood, $35 for careless driving.

Verbal Reply
To Questions
Asked by MLA

An attempt to have cabinet ministers answer Opposition members' questions verbally at the start of each legislature sitting is being made by CCF member Gordon Dowding.

Mr. Dowding has placed a resolution on the House order paper seeking to have the legislature adopt the practice of the Canadian and British House of Commons.

Provision is made for such a step under the legislature's standing orders, Mr. Dowding states.

The question period would be limited to the first 20 days of the session.

Questions would be placed on the House order paper as at present. Cabinet ministers now do not answer the questions verbally, however, but file them with the legislature at their pleasure.

FALMOUTH, England (Reuters)—Mysterious death Wednesday night attacked the Danish ship Elsborg. Three crew members died and a fourth was taken to hospital. The 12,000-ton vessel steamed into Falmouth Bay during the night, radiating to land stations that crew members were dying.

Pathologists were examining the bodies to determine cause of death.

'Dead' Woman Bears Child
Lying in Polish Mortuary

WARSAW, Poland (Reuters)—A religious newspaper said today that a woman who was pronounced dead in childbirth was taken to a mortuary, gave birth to another baby, then died while seeking help.

The Roman Catholic paper Slowo Powszechnie said the woman, after being delivered of a child at St. Kazimierz Hospital in Radom, central Poland, was pronounced dead by a doctor before being removed to the mortuary.

The following morning the first man to enter the mortuary found the woman dead by the bed. On a table was the body of a newly-born baby, also dead.

The woman had given birth to the second child and wrapped it in her shroud with her dying gently in search for help. strength, the paper said. Then it was understood the first baby she struggled to the door, apparently lived.

U.K. Boys 'Regular' Smokers

CHELTHAM, Eng. (AP)—One-third of the 307 boys aged 11 to 16 at Elmfield secondary modern school regard themselves as regular smokers.

One started smoking at six, and several at seven. One 14-year-old said "smoking helps me to relax. My dad lets me smoke."

The smoking habits of the boys were disclosed in an article today in the medical journal Lancet.

Dr. A. Parry Jones, who wrote the article, called for a stricter enforcement of the law forbidding the sale of cigarettes to children under 16.

Socred Asks Plebiscite On Private School Tax

Tisdalle Fights Exemption Plan; Claims Support by Backbenchers

Signs of opposition among Social Credit backbenchers to the government's move to exempt private schools from taxation emerged in the legislature Thursday night.

John Tisdalle (SC-Saanich) said the government should take a plebiscite before passing this section of the new Municipal Act.

Exemption 'Radical Departure'

"This exemption is a radical departure from constitutional practice in this province," Mr. Tisdalle told the House, "and it will create a division of public opinion throughout B.C."

He recalled that a plebiscite was taken on daylight saving time in 1952 and said the same policy should be followed in this issue.

SECOND READING

He spoke during second reading of the bill outlining the 899-section act.

John Squire (CCF-Alberni) also emphasized that CCF opposition to the tax exemption on private schools contained in the new act included all types of private schools.

"People think we were referring to one particular type of separate school," he said, in an obvious reference to Roman Catholic schools.

"We feel that how a person

Other Socred backbenchers are expected to follow his lead. "Other members of the party feel as I do," he said later.

educates his children is entirely up to him," Mr. Squire said, "providing it meets the standards of the province."

"But if he chooses other than public schools—then he must assume financial responsibility." The CCF member said it had been stated his party's stand on the controversial issue was "political suicide."

Members of the CCF were bound to stick to their principles on the matter, regardless of the effects, he said.

Earlier this week, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the CCF would urge that the government reconsider the taxation issue.

ONE REQUEST

Mr. Squire also criticized the change in the new act on taxes paid by utility companies to municipalities.

Only one municipality had requested a change in the 2 per cent tax on gross revenue in lieu of property taxes, he said. "Why hang all the other municipalities?" Mr. Squire asked.

The City of Port Alberni would lose money, he added, under the new plan to have utility companies pay a 1 per cent tax on gross revenues and a 10-mill share of school taxes.

Mr. Squire said outside the chamber Saanich was the only municipality which sought the change before the legislative municipal committee.

Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black said he would present statistics during third reading of the bill to back up the tax change.

Trapped Trio Spend 24 Hours On Tiny Rock

PARRSBORO, N.S. (CP)—Three badly chilled and exhausted men waded ashore at nearby Economy Thursday after being trapped on a tiny slab of rock in Minas Basin for more than 24 hours.

The men were trapped by fast rising Bay of Fundy tides about noon Wednesday as they walked along a slender ridge of rock and mud while searching for a missing naval Avenger aircraft. They spent a tortuous night on the rocky platform in the height of a wind-driven snow storm.

The three, Alvin Maclellan, 18, Garner Morrison, 27, and Burl Downing, 22, all of Centre Economy, were resting in their homes Thursday night. Young Maclellan required medical attention for exposure and exhaustion.

Island MP Sees Economic Crisis When B.C. Lumber Expansion Ends

OTTAWA (CP) — A CCF Commons member said Thursday his province of British Columbia is in for trouble when current heavy expansion in the lumber industry ends.

Thomas Barnett of Comox-Alberni riding, a former saw-mill employee, said that when that happens "the province is going to be in a very grave situation."

Many of the thousands of new citizens attracted to the province might not be so welcome then.

Lumber prices had risen sharply and forestry corporations were retaining huge profits for expansion. That was part of the inflationary pressure on the Canadian economy with high prices being used to help finance capital growth.

The wholesale price index for lumber and timber was the second-highest of all wholesale commodities. The bureau of statistics index, based on 1933-39 prices, equalling 100, stood at 441.8 compared with the average index for wholesale products of 229.4.

WENNER-GREN LAND
Mr. Barnett also told the Commons British Columbia has a new name: "Wenner-Gren Land" — a paradise for Swedish millionaires.

He poked fun at the proposal by Axel Wenner-Gren, wealthy Swedish financier, to build a monorail in far north of B.C.

The project would be part of a scheme to develop lumber and mineral resources.

Mr. Barnett, with a passing dig at Social Credit Premier Bennett, said:

"As I look forward into the vistas of the future in Wenner-Gren Land, I can see this great premier of this province setting out on a monorail which leads away through the future right on to the moon, and in its trail is a continuous expansion program of multi-billion-dollar projects."

"That is the sort of thing that the Hon. W. A. C. Bennett talks about when he is speaking at the premiere of this newly-named province."

Go-Ahead Given Margetts School

DUNCAN — Department of education has approved architects' sketch plans for a six-room $115,000 elementary school to be built on the contentious Margetts site immediately beyond the city's northeast boundary.

Thursday night district 65 school board ordered its architects, Hammond and Farmer, to prepare plans.

Tenders likely will not be called before June 1, which will mean the school cannot be finished before Oct. 1.

DELAY
The board heard Harry Fowler of H. E. Fowler and Sons, Victoria contractors, explain that the George E. Bonner secondary school at Cobble Hill cannot be finished before April 10 because of delayed hardware requirements and adverse weather.

E. W. Lee, board supervisor of construction, reported a poor job had been done on the laying of linoleum in the new school, scheduled for opening in January. It now appears it will not be occupied until September.

The board is considering a proposal to streamline its administration of routine affairs, to give trustees more time for considering policies. It will mean greater responsibility for the chief education officer, secretary-treasurer, bus transportation superintendent, and superintendent of buildings and maintenance.

Immigrant Starts Hike Across Island

His 75-mile route will pass Nanaimo Lakes, Fourth Lake, Francis Lake, and Sarita River. He is not an old-time woodsman, but an immigrant who arrived here only recently from his native Yorkshire. His load consists of a 70-pound pack, rifle, ammunition, a knife, two compasses, and a map.

SNOW PROBLEM

"The only thing that will stop me may be the snow in the mountains," he said.

Most rugged section of his route will be the 15 miles north and west of Cowichan Lake which forms the divide between east and west watersheds. Much of it has been logged.

Decision May 1 On Langford Centennial Plan

LANGFORD — Joint centennial celebrations for this district were discussed here Thursday night by representatives from groups in Langford, Colwood, Happy Valley, Metcheson and Luxton.

Suggested possible events were street dances, a fair, parade, barbecue, beard-growing contest, historical pageant by school children, rodeo, and a regatta.

A firm decision on a program will be made at the May 1 meeting of the joint committee.

6-Mill Increase Feared in Duncan School Taxation

DUNCAN — Taxpayers here fear that the 1957 budget for School District 65 will require a six-mill boost in Duncan and North Cowichan tax rates.

The budget details haven't been released by the school board, but rumors persist that it will be considerably higher than last year's budget of $660,393.

Man Dies After Duncan Fire; Shock Kills Elderly Friend

DUNCAN — Two men died Thursday as a result of a flash fire in a saw filer's shop. Frank Doney, 56, who had quit his job in Crofton Wednesday and had taken over the shop only 10 minutes before the fire, died Thursday evening in King's Daughters' Hospital of burns.

James Martin, owner of the shop and a heart patient in the hospital, suffered a second attack when he heard of the fire, and died shortly before noon.

Mr. Martin, 76, had given the business to Mr. Doney to keep people from bothering him for saws.

MADE MISTAKE
Earlier reports indicated the fire had started when Mr. Doney used kerosene to start a fire in the small stove in the shop. Firemen later found an exploded can that had contained gasoline, indicating that he probably used the gasoline by mistake.

It was Mrs. Martin, widow of the shop owner, and Mrs. Anne Metzger, a boarder in the Martin home, who had to take action to save Doney.

Mrs. Metzger gave the original alarm, and Mrs. Martin looked out to see Doney as "a human torch."

"Flames were writhing around his head and face, and shooting out from around his arms and legs and feet."

COULDN'T HELP
"We soon had lots of help, but there was so little we could do for poor Mr. Doney," Mrs. Martin said.

"Oh! the horrible sight of him standing there, not uttering a sound, but burning like a human torch. The poor, poor man. He had only been here 10 minutes."

She was in tears following the fire for fear her husband would hear about it.

"But surely no one would worry him when he is so ill," she said.

A plumber, Phil Marchant, first outside to reach the scene of the tragedy, at 77 Coronation Street, turned a garden hose on the interior of the shop, and a B.C. Power Commission crew looked after Doney until firemen and an inhalator truck arrived.

One of the firemen to answer the alarm was Doney's son-in-law, Harold Painter.

Doney is survived by four sons and two daughters.

AIMING FOR ANOTHER BIG YEAR

Winners of two Canadian titles last year, members of Victoria Bowmen Archery Club are pointing for another big season. Taking part in weekly indoor practice shoot Thursday night were (from left),

Like Trapshooting, Golf? Visit City Archery Club

Seldom heard of here at home but well known in other parts of Canada, the Victoria Bowmen Archery Club, is rated third among similar clubs from all over the nation.

Among its members, the Bowmen count two Canadian champions and four "experts"—more, per capita, than any other club across the country.

Bill Carnes and Lil Jones are the two national champions, gaining their titles on Labor Day, 1956, when the local club hosted the Canadian championships. Mrs. Jones holds the Canadian record for the highest score registered in championship competition.

The "experts" in the club, those scoring better than 450 out of a possible 540 points on six consecutive tries, are Frank Jones, Bill Carnes, Bob Copeman and Lil Jones.

Bob Akins, club president, invites anyone interested in archery to attend the regular twice-weekly meetings of the club, Monday and Thursday, in Williams Hall and see just what the sport is all about.

Enjoyment is the main theme of the club and to this end the members hold competitions of all kinds.

During the summer months, when the weather is fine, they adjourn to their field range, situated behind the Tillicum Theatre on Burnside Road, where they hold "trap shoots" similar to those held by shotgun enthusiasts as well as golf matches, with bow and arrow, and sharpen their eyes for competitions with other clubs during the year.

The Bowmen are in temporary winter quarters at Williams Hall as their old home, the Bay Street Armories, was taken over by the military late last year and they have not, as yet, found themselves a permanent place to roost.

Membership includes archers from primary school age and the group is anxious to have more junior members join. Juniors are admitted for a very nominal sum and the only real expense is equipment which can be assembled for as little as $20 for a beginner. Expert coaching by Canadian champions is free and plentiful.

Any persons interested in further information are asked to contact Bob Akins at 2-2463 and help swell the 40-member club roster.

Full of confidence president Akins said that the members of the club were ready, willing, eager and able to challenge any pistol club in matches at a given distance with targets regulation to the particular sport.

THE PATRICK STORY

Lester Comes To Victoria

By ARCHIE WILLS

(Copyright, 1957, By The Victoria Daily Times)

(Sixth Instalment)

When New Year's Eve arrived in 1911 Lester was celebrating his 27th birthday. In his wildest dreams he could not have pictured what the new year would have in store for him.

First, Father Patrick received an offer of $300,000 for his mills and timber holdings. The offer was accepted. What then?

Frank, the dreamer of the family, started at the same time scouting for players for three teams.

Lester was back in Victoria full of enthusiasm for the new venture. He paid $10,000 for six lots at the corner of Fort Street and Epworth Street in Oak Bay and awarded a contract for a wooden arena, which would cost $125,000.

He turned the first sod on August 10 and on Christmas Day invited all Victoria to attend the formal opening of his ice palace. The ice was so crowded that a skater couldn't find a place to fall down.

New Era Opened for Hockey

Then came Lester's big moment. He was to stage the first professional hockey game anywhere on artificial ice. It was to be the Pacific coast's introduction to the great numbers on their sweaters so the fans could identify them. This was the first time "numbering" had been seen. Today it is universal.

Lester didn't produce a winner the first season, but he came up with an idea which developed into the world's series. He got his friend, Art Ross, later manager of the Boston Bruins, to bring an all-star team from the National Hockey Association for a series on the coast. The next year Quebec, which won in the NHL, came west for what was to have been a world's series for the Stanley Cup, but the cup didn't come along.

However, to Lester went the honor of leading his Victoria team into the first designated Stanley Cup series in 1913-14. The series was played in Toronto and Victoria suffered defeat in three straight games, each by a single goal.

Frank, had as much to do with it as I did, you know," he has said.

But anyway Lester had this to his credit in the first game: He had all the players wearing numbers on their sweaters so the fans could identify them. This was the first time "numbering" had been seen. Today it is universal.

Bill Changes Tie—Vikings Gain Final

College Off to Toronto

By TOM ENGLISH (Vikings Team Captain)
WINNIPEG — The Victoria College Vikings scored the biggest victory of our basketball careers Thursday night when we over-powered the Winnipeg Imperials, 82-62, to win the western Canada junior boys' championship.

Make no mistake about it, we had a tough time getting past these Imperials in the best-of-five series and we will welcome the rest we get before going after the Canadian championship in Toronto starting Tuesday.

No-one will welcome the rest more than our coach, Bill Garner, who almost dies on the bench in every game we play, and our manager Fred Martens.

What's more, we will be very glad to see Bill finally change his tie. He isn't superstitious by nature but after we won our first game Bill figured our luck hinged on what he was wearing and he has refused to change his clothes. His trousers have become creased, his shirt rumpled and his tie wrinkled. But at last he can make a change as we head for the big city of Toronto to meet Toronto YMHA in a best-of-five series.

LATE DRIVE
Trailing by eight points early in the game and by four at half time, 36 to 32 we pulled it out in the second half, holding a 26-point lead at one time.

As for our scoring it was mainly a team effort with everyone on the club contributing either points or that all important team spirit. The fellows on the bench, Lance Rossington, Doug Flynn, Ken Brouseau and Terry Lore have been the backbone of team spirit throughout the year and Thursday was no exception.

Waldo Skillings hit the games' high of 23 points mainly on fantastic jump shots from as far as 30 feet out.

Bob Tomlinson accumulated 18 before he fouled out and played an outstanding game at the back boards. Art Chiko, who hit his prime in this series, pumped home 13 points, 10 of them in the second half as Vikings literally ran the Imperial Jewellers into the ground. I was next with 11 and then came Ken McCulloch with nine.

Ken played an outstanding game defensively and on the backboards as he continually outjumped his taller opponents. Certainly one of the most important figures of the series was Ed Kowalyk who scored eight points. Ed was the outstanding defensive player in the series and drew the awe of the Winnipeg fans with his marvelous checking and ball-hawking.

For the Jewellers, Hartas and Melnyk scored 19 and 14 to lead their team in its final game of the season. At the start of the second half the Jewellers hit the first field goal to give them a six point lead. We narrowed the margin to two and when the eruption finally took place we scored more than 20 straight points on a fast break to sew the game up and ensure the western Canadian title.

An outstanding feature of the Imperials was that they never gave up and acted like true sportsmen after the game, sincerely wishing us the best of luck in Toronto. The team will have four days rest, which we badly need as we have played nine games in 15 days.

The ability to get ourselves up for each game can be attributed directly to the wonderful wires we have been receiving from home. Keep them up—you don't know how much they are appreciated.

The Detroit Red Wings, leaving nothing to chance in the Stanley Cup playoffs, have included eight Western Hockey League stars in the list of 10 minor league players who will be available to the Wings for Stanley Cup playoff duty.

The WHL players are Guyle Fielder and Ray Kinasevich of Seattle, and Larry Hillman, Gordy Strate, Tony Leswick, Dennis Riggins, Bill McCreary and Tom McCarthy, all of the Edmonton Flyers. Players of other leagues are Bob Bailey of Springfield and Gilles Boisvert of Ottawa.

None of the minor league players will be available to the Wings until after their own teams have completed league and playoff games.

ROYALS HERE TONIGHT

Nels to Watch Home Wind-Up

Biggest crowd of the season, including Nelson Bulloch, is expected to watch the Victoria Cougars close out their 1956-57 home hockey schedule tonight at Memorial Arena against the New Westminster Royals.

Bulloch, dependable Cougar defenceman, became a spectator Thursday when he checked in at practice with a sprained ankle. Bulloch is on crutches and will miss tonight's game and Saturday's game at Seattle. However, he is expected to be back in the line-up Tuesday night when Cougars and Royals open their best-of-five semi-final playoff series in New Westminster.

Second game of the series will be at Memorial Arena next Thursday night with a third game, if needed, going back to New Westminster next Saturday night. West meets Seattle Americans in best-of-five coast final.

In Bulloch's place tonight and Saturday, Kiburn plans to use skating. Gordy Matheson, a Vancouver junior who attended Cougar training camp and was sent to Melville Millionaires junior team.

Tonight's game is an important one to Kiburn, although it will have no bearing on the standings. However, the Cougar coach is anxious to keep alive the team's seven-game home-winning streak. And, he adds, "our boys are playing for next year's contracts."

Members of the Shrine Club will take over tonight's game and will spice the hockey action with music, clowning antics and an appearance by the trained chimpanzee, Myla, who will demonstrate the finer points of simian Saturday, Kiburn plans to use skating.

Rugby Feud Renewed; Oak Bay Holds Lead

Traditional rivals, Oak Bay Wanderers and JBAA English rugby teams meet at Macdonald Park at 2:30.

JBAA, primarily the Oak Bay Drakes football team, will have three series for the Barnard Cup and Victoria senior division laurels.

Oak Bay took the first game Saturday, shelling Bays, 16-6, but James Bay hopes to overcome this deficit.

Their chance to bounce back and perhaps move on to Rounsfell Cup play for B.C. honors will come Saturday when the two Elms.

Doug Peden OUTDOOR REPORT

Wednesday might have been labelled "Alberta Day" at Saanich Inlet.

Johnny Longden, who came out of Tabor, Alta., to become the winningest jockey in turf history, was out at Brentwood along about morning workout time and picked up a frisky, 10-pound spring salmon in Tod Inlet.

Fishing with trainer Willie Molter and guide Jimmy Gilbert, Longden proved he knows how to handle a rod almost as well as a set of reins. Moolching with minnows and using eight-pound-test line, the little man who has booted more than 5,000 winners under the wire happily played his fish for more than 20 minutes before bringing it to the net.

However, he had to be satisfied with the place position this time, as Molter, who also rode at the old Colwood track, reeled in a 12-pounder—the only other fish they hooked before pulling up lines at 8.30.

Jean and Jack Savage, of Calgary, out with Stan Williams in the afternoon, ran into some blistery weather around McKenzie Bay, but stayed out long enough to boat three blue-backs and tangle unsuccessfully with several others.

Luck wasn't riding with Dof Mackay when he set out from the Goldstream end of the inlet and the Calgary mayor may be wondering what happened to the good fishing he was told about. Despite the best efforts of his hosts, Mayor Mackay came back to the dock without a strike.

Although they didn't cooperate with the mayor, a fair number of springs, averaging around seven pounds, have been taken from the Goldstream end this week, particularly near Chesterfield Rock. Tod Inlet has also been producing small springs for early-morning and evening anglers.

After a brisk weekend, action with grise was on the slow side Monday and Tuesday, but has picked up again. While some limits have been hooked on bucktails and small spoons fished near the surface, some of the best catches have been taken on deep lines. The grise seem to be moving around a bit and hitting in flurries anywhere between Willis Point and the island near Goldstream.

Crofton is still a good spot for grise, if you're willing to fish deep, and waters off Maple Bay have been good for several days.

Trout fishing is slowly improving in the lakes and some streams, but steelhead are still providing the most excitement for fresh-water anglers.

There was some fast action at Nanaimo River over the weekend. Kokislah River is harboring some husky steelies and a few are still being beached at Cowichan River.

Tom Doswell pulled one of the biggest ironheads of the year out of the Kokislah Tuesday. Towering Tom came home with two fresh-run fish, one a whopping 17½-pounder.

Cowichan River still appears the best bet for trout. Most of the fish are being taken by bait fishing or on flies of the salmon-egg type rolled along the bottom, but a few are starting to rise for flies at the headwaters of the river.

Several dark trout and steelhead are still in the Cowichan. Although most experienced anglers release the dark fish, some fishermen are taking them home, only to discover they make poor eating.

Fly-casters are fooling a few trout in Shawnigan Lake but youngsters bait-fishing from the floats are doing as well as anyone. In Douglas's Lake, trout were in one of their provocative moods early this week, busily dimpling the surface but spurning artificial flies. At both lakes, a few days of warm weather should bring a big improvement.

Elk and Beaver Lakes are yielding a few good-sized trout and Colquitz River, as usual during the first month of the season, is producing trout up to 15 inches for small fry using big worms.

Crafty Duncan Rink Extends Hot Streak

Ed Valieu of Duncan ran his win streak to seven straight in the fifth annual bonspiel at the Victoria Curling Club to stand as the only unbeaten rink in the 'spiel.

Valieu beat Glenn Walkey of Victoria 8-5 in the Colonist Event and later downed Alf Millham of Vancouver 9-8 in the Grand Challenge race.

The Duncan rink, entered by Valieu and skipped by Tony Folk, has curled magnificently to hold off all challengers with their best performance occurring when they held off a determined drive by Millham, the only other undefeated rink in the bonspiel at that time, to win in the last end, 9-8.

The fourth end of the match was the big one for Valieu when his rink scored six, but they stalled there, with an 8-3 lead, and were unable to mark again while Millham crept closer.

The Vancouver foursome came on gradually to tie the game in the seventh end and take a lead in the eighth by a single rock.

Folk, master-minding the up-lining quartet, switched from his takedown tactics to a draw style of play which seemed to throw the mainlanders off as Gooder missed with his last rock in the ninth to leave the Duncan rink one up coming home.

Other rinks previously unbeaten which were knocked off the ladder, were Spottiswood of Port Alberni, beaten by Gardiner of Victoria, 9-8; Wilson of Victoria, beaten by Gutoski, 12-11; and Perleite, beaten by Hole, 7-6.

ARAGON GETS ONE-TO-FIVE SENTENCE

Golden Boy's Glitter Tarnished

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A tarnished and nearly broke Art (Golden Boy) Aragon, who once bragged that he could defeat any prize fighter in his class, has taken the final count that virtually puts an end to his fabulous-fistic career.

The 29-year-old Aragon turned pale Thursday when he heard Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker sentence him to one to five years in State Prison for conspiring to give referee boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to take "a dive" in a Texas bout.

"I told the truth and I'm going to prison," Aragon sobbed as he was led away to jail by a bailiff. "There is nothing more I can say."

Aragon, who drew up to $1 million at the box office, was convicted last month by a superior court jury of conspiring to "fix" a San Antonio, Tex., bout last December by attempting to bribe Goldstein. The bout never came off because Aragon became ill and was excused by the Texas State Athletic Commission.

However, Goldstein complained to the National Boxing Association that Aragon offered him the bribe. Both fighters immediately were suspended by the association and Aragon was indicted by the county grand jury here on charges that led to the fatal verdict.

Aragon contended throughout his trial that he didn't have any reason to bribe "an unknown."

"I had two big fights pending against Kid Gavilan and Chico Vejar which would have netted me $35,000 to $40,000,"

Aragon testified. "How would $500 protect me?"

Judge Walker ignored the probation department's recommendation that Aragon get leniency and only a fine because:

"There isn't one scintilla of evidence that Aragon recognizes that he has been guilty of anything."

"I have no doubt the verdict of the jury was perfectly proper and was amply supported by the documentary evidence and testimony."

"I don't think probation will do him any good. Everything should be done to keep boxing a clean sport."

Aragon still has a slim chance to at least salvage his freedom. His attorneys immediately filed notice of appeal, which might keep Aragon out of jail until higher courts make a decision. However, Judge Walker refused to set bond pending the appeal and Aragon was hustled off to County Jail to await transfer to the State Prison.

Aragon, tabbed the Golden Boy because of his top box office exploits, indicated in his report to the probation department that he is nearly broke. He told probation officers that he hasn't worked in six months and had no income to meet $200 monthly payments to support his family.

Wes Can Take Hint; Big Bat Proves It

By The Associated Press

Johnny Logan, star Braves' shortstop, may have been thinking of John Wesley Covington the other day when he suggested that Milwaukee's National League pennant chances would brighten considerably "if the guys in leftfield" would improve their batting averages.

On the other hand, Logan and manager Fred Haney also may be putting the old squeeze play on Bobby Thomson, so the former New York Giant will start worrying about his job.

Wes Covington, who as a rookie in 1956 appeared mainly in pinch hit roles but played 35 games in the outfield, undoubtedly is keeping his antenna tuned in on the situation.

SOCK THREE EACH

Anyway, Covington socked three homers Thursday as did Logan, each driving in five runs as the Braves overpowered Chicago White Sox, 10-7.

Several days ago Haney, who has Hank Aaron in right and Bill Bruton in centre, said his leftfielder hadn't been decided upon. He just might make it an A-B-C combination with Covington supplying the needed power if he can handle the fielding chores.

"All I ask is a .285 hitter in left," Haney said.

The 1956 averages show that Thomson batted .235 and Covington, .283 in 75 games.

In other exhibitions, New York Giants defeated Baltimore Orioles 2-1; St. Louis Cardinals ended a four-game losing streak at the expense of New York Yankees, 9-2; Chicago Cubs edged Cleveland Indians, 5-4; Brooklyn Dodgers rallied to turn back Kansas City, 6-3; Detroit Tigers whipped Washington Senators, 9-2; and Cincinnati Redlegs had their second big day in row, thumping Philadelphia, 13-10.

Vernon Ties Cup Series

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Vernon Canadians came back Thursday night to even their Savage Cup series with the Spokane Flyers at two games each when they edged the visitors 5-4 in a hard-checking game.

Both teams have lost two games and tied one game in the best-of-seven final.

Canadian defenceman Tommy Stecky scored two unassisted goals for Vernon of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League. Vernon's singles went to Willie Schmidt, Johnny Harms, Mark Marquess.

Art Jones, John Zahara, Tock Beattie and Rock Crawford all picked up one goal for the Flyers, representatives of the Western International Hockey League.

NEWPORT, England (Reuters)
Newport County beat Coventry City, 3-0, in an English League third division south soccer game Thursday.

HARVEY'S GIMPY LEG LARGE PAIN FOR TOE

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Toe Blake, preparing his Montreal Canadiens for the winup of the National Hockey League schedule and the post-season Stanley Cup series, took on a new worry Thursday when he learned defenceman Doug Harvey has a gimpy leg.

Harvey pulled a muscle in the back of his right leg in Wednesday night's game in Toronto against the Maple Leafs, Canadiens pulling out a 2-1 win.

Bruins Have Reasons To Ooze Confidence

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins, the upstarts of the National Hockey League, have strong reasons for regarding themselves as favorites to win the Stanley Cup.

The Bruins, whose rag-to-riches story is one of the NHL's most surprising in years, lifted themselves into a second-place tie with Montreal Canadiens Thursday night as they shut out the Red Wings 2-0 in Detroit.

Bruins now can finish no worse than third, yet only a year ago they ended up in fifth place.

Detroit and Montreal are regarded by most observers as co-favorites to win the Stanley Cup, but on the basis of performance against those same two teams this season, Bruins are the logical choice.

Their victory Thursday night was their seventh over Red Wings this year, against four losses and three ties. Their record against Montreal is the same.

SIMMONS IS HERO
Thursday night's hero was 25-year-old goalie Don Simmons of Port Colborne, Ont.

Facing one of the league's highest-scoring teams, Simmons coolly kicked out 29 shots, 11 of them in each of the first two periods. Glenn Hall made 23 saves in the Detroit net.

The Bruins scored once in the first and once in the second, then hung on through a third period that saw them one man short on two occasions.

Leo Labine, Boston's devil-may-care right-winger, scored the first goal after only 24 seconds in the first period.

At 6:29 of the second, Real Chevrefils, the first Burin to reach 30 goals since Bobby Bauer turned the trick in 1946, scored his 31st.

The shutout was Simmons' fourth in 25 games, and two of them have been against the Red Wings.

Should Boston finish in third, it must play Detroit in the semi-final set while Canadiens would be matched against fourth-place New York Rangers, the outside choice of the four.

Dave McTaggart Ousted in London
LONDON (AP)—Dave McTaggart, Vancouver, Canadian singles champion, was eliminated in the quarter-finals of the all-England badminton tournament Thursday by Finn Kobberø, Denmark, who defeated him, 15-13, 15-8.

But Marjorie Shedd, Toronto, using a hard drive and skilful drop shots, fought her way into the semi-finals of the women's singles by defeating Mrs. Tonni Ahm, Denmark, 11-13, 11-6.

Today Miss Shedd meets Margaret Varner, El Paso, Tex., U.S. singles champion, who defeated Mrs. Iris Rogers, England.

Winning the tournament amounts to an unofficial world title.

Justice Official Interviews Carey, Gordon

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—A special federal justice department investigation went into Oakalla prison farm's death row Thursday for talks with convicted murderers James Carey and Joe Gordon.

A. J. MacLeod, director of the department's remissions branch, spent several hours in private talks with the two men, who are scheduled to be hanged April 2 for shooting Constable Gordon Sinclair, Dec. 7, 1953, while the city policeman investigated reports of a prowler in midtown Vancouver.

The men were given a two-week reprieve from their execution while Mr. MacLeod investigates Carey's claim that he was doing RCMP undercover work at the time of the shooting and a note allegedly sent by Gordon to Carey saying Gordon did the shooting.

Mr. MacLeod also visited Carey's defence counsel Norman Mullins.

BULLET REMOVED

VANCOUVER — Ronald Compston, Royal Bank accountant who was shot last week while thwarting an attempted holdup of a downtown bank, underwent surgery Thursday and had a .22-calibre bullet removed from his back. Compston was reported in good condition at Vancouver General Hospital. He was expected to be released some time next week.

A spokesman for the hospital said an earlier report that Const. Kenneth Miles, also wounded in the accident, underwent surgery and had a bullet removed from his neck was erroneous. He said the slug still is lodged in the back of Miles' neck.

VANCOUVER—Fred Wirth, 25, was twice stabbed in the chest with a hunting knife during an argument in a Granville Street hotel Thursday night. His condition was reported as good.

SWALLOWED PART OF MOUSE

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Antonietta Pistor has accepted $300 damages for the shock she received when she swallowed part of a decomposed mouse in a soft drink. Mrs. Pistor sued Seven-Up (Vancouver) Ltd. for unspecified damages. Compensation was disclosed by Mrs. Pistor's counsel D. S. Moir.

Before examining the case, the specialist had been helping to circulate a petition demanding resignation of the Workmen's Compensation Board, Mr. Wicks said.

Debate on a bill to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act, introduced by George Gregory (Liberal-Victoria) was adjourned on the motion of Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The bill would amend a section of the act dealing with appeals and would force the board to follow recommendations of specialists called in on appeals.

DISREGARDED

Mr. Gregory claims that in several appeal cases recently the specialist's opinion had been disregarded and the original board ruling upheld.

"The Workmen's Compensation Board is going ahead and doing what it thinks is right and to heck with the specialists," Mr. Gregory declared.

Last Monday Mr. Gregory criticized the board's handling of the case of Mr. Zucco. The board had disregarded a petition of right filed by Mr. Zucco in which he claimed a silicosis pension, Mr. Gregory said.

"GOOD JOB"

Opposing the amendment, Labor Minister Wicks said most people believed the board had done "a good job" and the government opposed the amendment because it would be retroactive in its effect.

The minister added that if the specialist chosen in this case had been "a truly independent specialist," Mr. Gregory's amendment would have carried more weight.

"Who told the minister this specialist was biased," asked John Squire (CCF-Alberni).

CCF SUPPORT

CCF Leader Robert Strachan said the CCF wholeheartedly supported Mr. Gregory's amendment.

"In case after case the board has overruled specialists chosen in appeals against the board's decisions. It is not confined to the Zucco case."

He added that the CCF "will not rest content until interpretations of the Compensation Act are brought into line with the intentions of this legislature two years ago."

He maintained that the objection to the specialist chosen by Zucco was like "kicking a man while he is down."

Mr. Bonner's adjournment of the debate was taken to mean that the government intends to examine the bill further.

NIGHT POLICE AUGMENTED

VANCOUVER — Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose said today that 14 policemen, taken from the day staff of the "commando" squad, will go on night duty. Fourteen other men also will "soon be transferred" to night duty. The strategy is part of a battle to combat a surging crime wave in Vancouver.

$28 Tax Rebate Approved; 'Scandalous Waste'—CCF

Liberals Vote With Government; Winch-less CCF Slipping—Bennett

The government's plan to give home-owners a $28 deduction on their municipal taxes was given second reading—approval in principle—by the legislature Thursday.

The bill passed after Tony Gargrave (CCF-Mackenzie) had described the schemes as a "scandalous waste of public funds," and Premier Bennett jumped to its defence with a ringing display of oratory.

The recorded vote—ordered by the premier—showed the two Liberal members voting with the government against the CCF and Tom Uphill, Independent Labor.

Mr. Gargrave blasted the $28 rebate as a "monument to the poor man than the rich man," Mr. Price said.

Gordon Dowding (CCF-Buraby) said the rebate was "obviously an election bait."

are watching this House today," the premier declared.

In his best election-platform, arm-waving style, the premier said the opposition "fears what the great programs and dividends of Social Credit will mean in an election."

Labor Support

Pointing a finger at the CCF benches, Mr. Bennett said the rebate was supported by the B.C. Federation of Labor.

"Never has the CCF debate been so poor—their heart wasn't in it."

"They know it's basic Social Credit philosophy and if they don't oppose it, it will spread across the country."

The CCF has "slipped horribly" since Harold Winch quit as provincial leader to enter federal politics, Mr. Bennett claimed. The party has no ideas of its own.

The premier wound up the debate by declaring that "compared to the services rendered, no province is taxed less than B.C."

The rebate was defended by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who had adjourned the debate on second reading last Friday.

It would bring benefits to "hundreds of thousands" of people in the province, Mr. Kiernan said.

Stabilizing

Owning a home was not a sign of excessive wealth as had been suggested by the CCF, he said. The family home is the greatest stabilizing factor in our society and "these people are entitled to some consideration."

Mr. Kiernan urged the opposition to take a "second look" at the plan, which, he said, was both popular and good.

Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) said that if the government really wanted to help the young home-owner it would lift the sales tax on home-building materials.

"You're taking money from everyone to give to a few," Mr. Turner said.

The government had raised too much money and was turning it over to win favor from a limited number of people.

Most Equitable

Bert Price (SC-Burrard) said the government plan was the "fairest and most equitable" means of returning tax money that could be found.

The $28 is worth more to the

It was "significant" that the Social Credit dividend in Alberta was introduced in the year of a provincial and federal election and in conjunction with the intention," said Mr. Dowding.

Noted Opera Star No 'Butterfly' Cured by Macaroni Court Rule

ROME (AP)—A Rome court has ruled opera star Maria Meneghini Callas' slim figure owes nothing to a macaroni company's "physiological pasta."

The court ruled in favor of the soprano in a lawsuit against the Pastificio Pantanella Company for its advertisements claiming that the once-chubby Miss Callas lost 44 pounds by eating the product.

Miss Callas declared the advertisements damaged her "decorum." Petitioning for "appropriate damages," her lawyer said:

"For her, lyric artist of world fame, decorum is the essence of life. The public wants her noble and delicate as the art she professes. It is damaging if, against such ideal spirituality, one finds behind the scenes a 'butterfly' who cures herself with macaroni and trades on her own weight under the form of public advertisement."

After more than a year of litigation, the court declared the macaroni firm's advertisements illegal. The ruling did not fix the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded Miss Callas. Under Italian procedure, damages may be set in later discussion between the judge, plaintiff and defendant. Frequently the amount is not made public.

POWELL RIVER (CP)—A site near Myrtle Point is being studied for a new $1,000,000 airport for Powell River. The present field would still be used for smaller planes. WEDDING BELLS SOON?

Ava Gardner, Comedian Hold Hands in Public

ROME (UP)—An unabashed public display of handholding by Ava Gardner and Italian comedian Walter Chiari touched off new reports today that the film star was heading for her fourth wedding.

Their names have been linked romantically since 1954, but this was the first time the couple had circulated arm in arm at a public reception and allowed photographers to snap their picture at will.

Just a month ago Chiari tore into a French news cameraman who tried to photograph the couple leaving a Roman jazz cellar.

Thursday night's reception was given for the star and Chiari by the Fontana sisters, Italy's leading dress designers. The sisters have just completed a 30-dress wardrobe for Miss Gardner's latest film, "The Sun Also Rises," based on a novel by Ernest Hemingway.

Tax Rental Pact Gets Fast Approval

Twenty-two bills, including giving B.C. far more than the tax rental agreement with tawa originally offered, was passed without question.

The iron and steel bounties are planned to encourage establishment of a basic iron and steel industry in B.C. and discourage export of B.C. mined ore to other countries.

It provided that a worker should be tested and given a certificate of competence before being classified as a miner.

In support of his argument Mr. Nimsick produced a certificate of competence given to Tom Uphill (Labor-Fernie) in South Wales in 1906.

KIERNAN TO REPORT

Mr. Nimsick's bill was defeated 35-12 after Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan promised to examine the matter carefully and bring in a report at the next session.

Bills approved included iron bounties, salary increases for members and ministers, and an increase in the borrowing power of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The federal-provincial tax agreement, lauded by Premier Bennett in his budget speech as the salary increases will give MLAs $5,000 a year, cabinet ministers $12,500 and Premier Bennett $15,000.

Under the new PGE Act the railway will have a borrowing power of $80,000,000 instead of the present $60,000.

A bill to set up a new department of recreation and conservation was partially approved but a section defining the parks was left out.

The section was questioned by Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) who said that while the bill proposed parks be defined as A, B or C there was nothing in the act defining park classifications.

S. M. Ward Dies at 79

TORONTO (CP) — Sherwell Marwood Ward, 79, a veteran of the South African War and a magistrate for 20 years, died in hospital here Wednesday.

Mr. Ward was a CPR station agent in Alberta from 1905 until 1912 when he left to take the same position at North Bend, B.C. It was at North Bend that he served as a stipendiary magistrate.

Underground air-raid shelters in Sweden will accommodate more than 1,000,000 persons.

Tugmen Criticized For 'Pirate Chase'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tugboat men who took part in a bullet-punctured Georgia Strait "pirate chase" were criticized Thursday by Magistrate R. C. Palmer.

The two men they were chasing — Fred Ramsell, 22, and Peter Cruden, 23, both of Vancouver — were jailed for six months for unlawfully possessing a firearm and for stealing an outboard motor.

The two men were in a launch which was chased by tugs down the Fraser River and into Georgia Strait after the outboard motor was stolen.

The magistrate said the tugboat men had "no right to engage in such hot pursuit and attempting to ram when their knowledge of an offence has been committed was only hearsay."

B.C. Lawmakers Hear Sunday Sport Battle

The battle for commercial Sunday sport in Vancouver opened before a legislature committee today.

The Private Bills Committee will decide, behind closed doors, whether the city's application for a charter amendment permitting sports on the Sabbath between 1.30 and 6 p.m. should be passed by the legislature.

Vancouver corporation counsel, Russell Baker, told the committee Sunday sport had been approved by citizens in 1955 plebiscite and the legislature had the authority to grant it.

The action was opposed by R. J. McMaster, who presented a brief on behalf of the Lord's Day Alliance.

The brief urged committee members to reach a decision on the basis of "principle." Both moral and religious issues were involved, Mr. McMaster said.

GREAT RESPECT

Governments in Canada have traditionally acted "with great respect for the religious feelings and convictions of our people," he said.

Legislation cutting away at the observance of the Sabbath should be enacted "only in great emergency."

Mr. McMaster said Canada was a country founded on Christian principles and quoted the Fourth Amendment: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

"I suggest that the members of the legislature must, with integrity, consider firstly whether the principle involved in this legislation offends against the true meaning and spirit of the Fourth Commandment."

Because a "small majority of a small vote" approved Sunday sports in a plebiscite, the legislature should not force other people to surrender their rights.

EXPLOITERS

Mr. McMaster charged that promoters of commercialized sport in Vancouver "hope to make a better profit if they can also exploit Sunday."

Finally, Mr. McMaster argued that prohibitive Sunday observance legislation is criminal law, and cannot be amended by provincial statute.

Mr. Baker said the wording of the charter amendment is based on an act passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1950 permitting Sunday sports. This legislation has worked effectively, he said. Manitoba also passed a law allowing Sunday excursions which was upheld by the Privy Council.

DON'T APPLY

Provisions of the provincial Sunday Observance Act, which applies only to the mainland, are not applicable to modern-day conditions, Mr. Baker said.

The federal Lord's Day Act has a provision enabling provincial governments to pass separate legislation, he pointed out.

The corporation counsel quoted from a recent judgment by County Court Judge J. B. Clearhugh in the case of a Sidney storekeeper who sold a cup and saucer to a tourist on Sunday afternoon. Judge Clearhugh said our Sunday legislation needs modification, and this should be done by the legislature and not by the courts.

Mr. Baker said the size of the majority in the Vancouver plebiscite was not important.

WILL OF PEOPLE

"It was the will of the people of Vancouver that city council should seek permissive legislation," he said.

Answering Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, a committee member, Mr. Baker said the city had not consulted with the provincial government before submitting the plebiscite and he could see no reason why it should.

Opponents of Sunday sport would be able to test the legislation in the courts if they wanted, Mr. Baker said.

Also appearing before the committee was Allan Campbell, of the Sunday Afternoon Sports Committee, which was organized in 1951.

His group was not seeking a "wide-open" Sunday, Mr. Campbell said.

He compared the present dispute as a "man and wife fight in which nobody wins."

Cemetery Appeal Requested

The city, Saanich, local citizens and cemetery company today asked Chief Justice Sloan for permission to appeal a decision of the Public Utilities Commission allowing establishment of a private cemetery near Goldstream.

The PUC in a recent judgment following a public hearing granted to the Memorial Gardens Association of Canada Ltd., permission to establish the cemetery.

The company's application before the PUC was strongly opposed by Victoria and district and civic bodies.

Lawyer D. M. Gordon, pleading on behalf of the Colwood Cemetery, asked that the permission to appeal be granted on the grounds that the PUC did not consider whether or not an additional cemetery was "necessary" for the Greater Victoria area.

The application to appeal the PUC's decision was heard in the Chief Justice's chamber. The municipal Royal Oak Cemetery board was represented by lawyer Alan Cox.

Other parties supporting the appeal application were A. J. Fulton, representing a group of local residents, the city and Saanich.

Alan Macfarlane represented the cemetery company.

The Chief Justice adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday to hear further arguments from parties opposed to the establishment of a cemetery.

First 'Skeena' Won Three Battle Honors

By MONTE ROBERTS

As naval history goes, the name "Skeena" is a comparatively new one.

There has been only one RCN ship bearing that name prior to the commissioning, on March 30, of Canada's newest destroyer escort.

And that Skeena lived only from August, 1931, to October, 1944.

In her life, though, the first Skeena racked up three battle honors—which will be inherited by her successor—and a record of combat glory remembered vividly by those who served in her.

The first Skeena was commissioned at Portsmouth, England, on June 10, 1931. She was built in England, on RN lines, but specifically for Canada—one of the first two RCN destroyers not taken over from the Royal Navy.

For the next eight years, she served on this coast, mainly as a training ship, while war clouds darkened.

She was in the Spithead review of 1937, following the coronation of King George VI; was at Halifax when the Second World War started.

During the winter of 1939-40 and the following spring, the Skeena was with the Halifax force on local escort of North Atlantic convoys.

In May, 1940, she was one of four Canadian destroyers sent to aid in the defence of Britain against the then-threatening invasion.

Later she served with the Newfoundland escort force, and as senior ship of mid-ocean escort groups, where snarling wolf packs of submarines snapped at the heels of convoys.

Battle honors won—and well won—during the war were: Atlantic 1939-1944; Normandy 1944; and Biscay 1944.

The Skeena's end came in October, 1944, when she was driven ashore on the Icelandic island of Videy in a heavy gale.

Fifteen lives were lost. The Skeena was a total loss. But her record lives on. And so will her name.

NEW PUNCH, NEW LOOK GIVEN RCN

The hull is 366 feet overall, the beam is 42 feet, and the low, almost submarine-like silhouette draws just over 12 feet to displace 2,600 tons.

Her streamlined hull isn't too pleasing to the eye of the traditional sailor, but it's a joy to those who will serve in her.

The curved bow and the tapered, unbroken forecastle are rounded to counter ice formation—a dread danger in the North Atlantic—and will assist in warding off atomic fall out. Anchors are housed in recesses, equipped with doors to keep out ice-forming spray.

Principal armament, of course, consists of anti-submarine weapons. This includes two mortar mountings, controlled by electronic apparatus which locates and tracks the submarine and fires at the correct second.

The ship also will carry homing torpedoes which alter course to pursue the enemy attempting evasive action below the sea or on the surface.

Among other weapons are two twin 3-inch, 50-calibre radar-controlled guns with high rate of fire—useful—mainly against aircraft but adaptable to surface action; two 40-mm. anti-aircraft bobs; and a rocket flare projector for night action.

Damage control organization is extensive, designed for the type of action naval authorities expect in any future war. Damage control centre is linked by its own phone system to strategic points throughout the ship. To reduce flooding danger and prevent contamination of the air-conditioning system by bacteria or atomic fall-out, the hull has no scuttles. Those on the superstructure are sealed and have light-weight aluminum deadlights to black-out the ship.

The ship can be sealed against chemical attack or fall out and air recirculation through the air-conditioning system can be stepped up to 15 cycles an hour. There are two decontamination compartments, and equipment for hosing down contaminated exterior surfaces.

As for living in this ship—it's no wonder there are so many sailors anxious to join her that the saying at Esquimalt is "you can't buy a seat aboard."

The men sleep on bunks with foam mattresses, pillows, individual reading lamps; there are clothes lockers, outlets for electric shavers, mirrors. Each living space has a recreational area.

Feeding is on the now-accepted cafeteria system. In addition to the all-electric galley, there are bakery, pastry, meat and vegetable departments, ice cream machinery, dishwashing machine, garbage disposal unit, clothes washing machines and spin-dryer.

Frozen provisions can be carried for 90 days at sea. DDE 207, when she is accepted by the navy March 30, will wear the white ensign for the first time, carry the name HMCS Skeena and become a fighting-fit addition to Canada's fleet.

Former methods of ship-handling during action have been replaced with an electronic conning system. The wheelhouse is on the main deck, fully enclosed, two decks below the bridge, and thus less vulnerable during attack.

Complex radar and direction-finding equipment "seen through fog and darkness, and during action, the captain will fight the ship from the operations room."

The ship is all-welded, and aluminum has been used extensively in the interior and superstructure for weight reduction and good stability.

JUDY BOOTS

(Batting for Monte Roberts)

Well where do you suppose the Old Man is today and what do you suppose he is doing well the Old Man is at Vancouver and he is on a boat of all things.

Which I am against this or I should say both of this I am against the Old Man being in Vancouver and I am against him being on a boat the one is more ridiculous than the other although which is the more ridiculous I cannot say because I do not know.

After all I am only the female-type doggie who lives at the Old Man's house and I have been told to stay home and mind the store while the Old Man is not only at Vancouver but on a boat how silly can you get?

I guess you can get pretty silly because in the first place you have to be silly to go to Vancouver when you can perfectly well stay home right here in Victoria where spring comes first to etc. and the stately homes and beautiful gardens, and all the places where I know the bone is buried where was I?

Oh yes and you certainly can get awfully, very considerably silly when you not only go to Vancouver but when you get to Vancouver you go on a boat.

Because what do boats do? boats float around on water without water there would be no boats and the only good thing about water is for drinking but the kind of water boats float around on is salt water and salt water is no good for drinking thus it is no good for anything and therefore boats are no good either.

Besides which if the Old Man suddenly takes leave of his senses if he ever had any senses and wants to go out in a boat we have lots of boats right here in Victoria why does he go to Vancouver to go on a boat and leave me at home to mind the store I ask you?

And what is more the Old Man not only went to Vancouver to go on a boat and left me at home to mind the store the Old Man also told me to write his column for him today otherwise he would not provide me with my bed and bone.

Little does he know the fury of a female-type doggie scorned which is me I feel I am being scorned and I am not going to write his column for him even if he will no longer provide me with my bed and bone.

After all there must be an easier way of earning your bed and bone and what is more important the Old Man left Hector the Spectre (he is the ghost who lives in our house) at home and Hector the Spectre was so cross at the Old Man going to Vancouver and also on a boat he moaned and groaned and rattled his chains all night so how could a poor female-type doggie sleep and why should she write the Old Man's column today?

The answer is she couldn't and she won't, in the order named, and so there.

Fairey Optimistic Ottawa Will Help Restore Old Fort

Development of Esquimalt's Fort Rodd Hill by the Historical Sites and Monuments Board of Canada emerged today as a distinct possibility.

The board will meet in Ottawa in late May or early June to consider the proposal by a group of leading Victorians.

This information has come from Dr. Frank Fairey, MP for Victoria, who has taken up the proposal with federal authorities.

BY SUMMER

"I am very hopeful that we can look for a favorable decision this summer," said Dr. Fairey.

The 44-acre parkland, with its two old fortresses situated on the far side of Esquimalt Harbor east of the Spit, is owned by the department of national defence.

Dr. Fairey said Defence Minister Ralph Campney has informed him the army is no longer interested in the property.

The MP said some ministers have expressed approval of the proposal to maintain the area as a historical site.

Natural Resources Minister Jean Lesage quickly agreed to submit the proposal to the Historical Sites and Monuments Board, Dr. Fairey said.

MANY OTHERS

The board has been responsible over a period of years for restoring and maintaining a score of historic fortresses in Eastern Canada. Most are in Quebec and the Maritime provinces.

Meanwhile, a group of club and society representatives today went on record unanimously supporting the development of the historic site as a centennial project.

The group was taken on a tour of the property by Capt. Geoffrey D'Arcy on Thursday. It included Cyril Chapman, manager of the Empress Hotel, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

"As far as I'm concerned this should be the centennial project," he said. "It has everything, historic fortresses, beaches and woodland parkland."

Mrs. G. M. Welsh, school teacher, said the site was ideal as a recreational area.

Store Working Students Face Suspension

About 10 school students face suspension because of unauthorized absence from school to work at the opening of a new Safeway store, it was learned today.

Most of the students are from Mount View High School. The store is the new Safeway supermarket at Burnside and Tillamook, which was opened Tuesday.

Frank Rendle, principal of Mount View, said the boys can only be listed as truants. When they all return Monday, he said, they likely will be suspended until Inspector John Gough and the school board reviewed the facts and make a decision.

Mr. Rendle said about half the parents of boys concerned applied to him for permission to have the boys away from school, and he declined. Yet the boys were told by the store management to either "take the four days off or get no more part-time work," he said.

"It put the boys on the spot," he said.

Mr. Gough said the instance was the first ever experienced by the school board.

"These students stayed away without the approval of the principal," he said. "The reasons given for their absence were not satisfactory. It is unfortunate they were misled or misdirected by the company."

Both he and Mr. Rendle said they were acting according to the School Act as regards truancy, and that they cannot overlook violations.

Anthony Anselmo, Vancouver Island district manager for Safeway, said he thought his firm had acted in good faith.

"We called for youngsters, to help at the opening," he said. "When we selected 15 or 16, we told them to get the permission of their school principals and parents to stay away."

"Some of them said it was all right for them to work, and then we heard from the principal who said they could not. Immediately we called each parent concerned, and each one pleaded with us to let the boys work and have a chance for summer jobs with us."

"Then we didn't know what to do, so we used them all the first day, and sent them back to school as fast as we could let them go. By today there were only four at work."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Knights of Columbus state deputy for B.C., Dr. J. Vingo of Nelson will visit Victoria Saturday to check organization plans for the annual state convention of the K of C to be held at the Empress Hotel, May 25-26. An estimated 200 delegates from the mainland will attend.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau will speak to Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel next Wednesday at 12.10 p.m.

Director of the Capital Region Planning Board, Brahm Wiesman, will speak on the progress to date in preparation of a regional plan, before the capital region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, Thursday, March 28.

The general meeting starts at 8 p.m. at 902 Government.

Victoria's 25 Twilight Singers, ranging in age from 68 to 90, will present a program at Belmont United Church, Belmont and Pembroke, tonight at 8.

Provincial tourist promotion slogan this year is "Share the Fun in British Columbia." Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood said today.

The first 1957 edition of the calendar of events published by the B.C. Government Travel Bureau, lists close to 200 different community activities to which visitors are invited.

"So far inquiry response to the new tourist appeal has exceeded last year's record by several thousand," Mr. Westwood said.

William Rogers, 47, 486 Fraser, received a leg fracture, face and head cuts when in collision with a car driven by Lucien Langlois, 1232 Lyall, about 10.50 p.m. Thursday at Fraser and Carlyle.

He is being treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition is reported good.

Langlois pleaded guilty in Esquimalt police court this morning to impaired driving and was remanded to Monday for a probation report.

Police said the Langlois car had been on the wrong side of Fraser at the time of the accident. Heavy tire marks extending 53 feet were found on the pavement.

An Assize Court jury at noon today withdrew to consider a verdict in the case of Bolton Frank Turner, 5021 Santa Clara, charged with criminal negligence.

The charge arose from the traffic death of John William Youson, 76, 748 Esquimalt Road, at the corner of Esquimalt Road and Rothwell on Jan. 5 this year.

A monthly wage increase of between $66 and $90, depending on various classifications, has been agreed on between 60 members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and B.C. Packers Ltd. at the Coal Harbor whaling station, Quatsino Sound.

The agreement, for a one-year term, provides for an across-the-board increase of 18 per cent in wages, while bonus and differentials. This amounts to an hourly increase ranging from 27 cents to 34 cents.

Compulsory check-off of union dues was also established.

Edmonton youth Roy McGregor, 17, was sentenced in city police court today to six months definite and two years indeterminate in Oakalla jail upon offender's unit on a charge of breaking, entering and intent to steal.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said he was not satisfied with a probation report on the accused and "therefore I have no alternative but to sentence you."

McGregor was convicted last week of entering the gunsmith shop of Fred Behnson, 1423 Broad, where he was found by police crouched behind a counter with a .25-calibre pistol taken from the shop in his possession.

On Etiquette

About mother of bridegroom: My son is to be married. When people come to the reception am I supposed to stand by the door with the bride's parents? How long would I remain there? The bride wants me to be at her house for luncheon on the day of the wedding but I will have people staying at my house. Could I have my sister entertain them and excuse myself?

Louise Davis answers:

Don't be concerned as to where you stand or for how long. The bride's mother undoubtedly will have everything figured out, so just ask her what she wants you to do. She will, of course, ask you to stand beside her during the receiving, and you would stay in the line until the last guest comes up to shake hands with the parents, the bride and bridegroom and with the bride's attendants.

As to your house guests, ask the bride or her mother if they would mind you remaining at home to entertain your guests. If they are disappointed the only thing you can do is to go. Your sister could take over the duties as hostess. The guests would understand.

Tempting, Nutritious Spring Salads

"Salad-ity" spring vegetables! If there isn't such a dictionary word there should be because the salad-presentation of March plentiful—such as fresh cauliflower, carrots, cabbage and turnips—is smart kitchen policy. Playing-up these standbys, customarily served hot and covered with butter or cream sauces, in a glamorous new guise that brings their colorful good looks out into the open, will tempt the most languid appetites. And you will be assured that the family is stocking up on vitality-giving nutrients, so particularly important.

Call the vitamin-roll of these easily available, comfortably priced vegetables. Cauliflower and broccoli says "aye" to goodly quantities of vitamin C, with broccoli scoring in A, too. The carrot teems with that health and beauty-builder, vitamin A. Cabbage comes in with a bounty of C, and excellent supplies of A, B and G to boot. The unassuming turnip turns in a telling count of vitamin A. All are also fine sources of health-helping minerals. And another bonus factor during this time when we must all beware of winter-logy waist-lines—not one of these vegetables is high in calories!

DIFFERENT TASTING

The possibilities for spring vegetable salads are endless. These items are picture-pretty, with their green, clear yellow to orange and comely vegetable colors—fresh snow-white—and delightfully different tasting. Chilled cooked-cauliflower that has been marinated combines intriguingly with cold fish fillets or steak in a real show-stopper. Or, toss grated fresh carrots, turnips and cabbage with diced cooked ham, add a dash of fresh lemon juice and black pepper and you'll have a salad that will please the palate and stick to the ribs.

Let's get spring vegetables out of their hot-cooked rut and into adventurous salads that have plenty of color, tastiness and nourishment. Here is a refreshingly different recipe:

CAULIFLOWER AND FISH

One and one-half cups cold poached fish fillets or steaks, 1 medium head cold cooked cauliflower, 1/4 cup French dressing, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon ground white pepper, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, fresh parsley for garnish, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1 1/2 tablespoons pickle relish.

In this exciting salad cauliflower has been taken out of its customary hot-cooked role to star, cooked and chilled, as the salad partner of salmon fillets. The same recipe can be used with haddock, halibut or beef steak.

Salmon, haddock or halibut may be used.

To poach fish, tie in a cheese-cloth bag and place in boiling water. Cook 5 to 8 minutes or until flaky. Remove from bag and chill. Separate cauliflower into pieces and marinate in French dressing for 1 hour. Just before serving arrange lettuce on a serving platter. Flake fish and mix with salt, pepper and fresh lemon juice. Pile in the centre of platter. Arrange cauliflower around fish. Garnish with fresh parsley. Serve with mayonnaise mixed with pickle relish. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

Chancy or Not—This Meeting Resulted in New Friendship

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It's a chancy business to try and renew an acquaintance after years of separation. There's a memory block it's hard to get past. The persons concerned are molded in an outline that centres around the last meeting. Even when the edges have blurred with time, the image remains unchanged. There is no place in this memory block for aging years or changed ideas.

That's why I waited with more than a little interest to hear the result of a meeting that took place in this city last week, between two women who had not seen each other for more than a decade—Mrs. J. A. Grant, now living in Victoria, and the brilliant young actress, Dawn Greenhalgh, who appeared as Desdemona with the Canadian Players in the Royal Theatre.

Last time they met was in the Orient when Mrs. Grant (then Jessie Cole) was a 19-year-old teacher and Dawn one of her primary pupils in a Shanghai convent.

She lost track of the youngster, "who was always acting or playing make-believe," and only found her again when she read that a grown-up Dawn Greenhalgh would appear here in "Othello."

Almost afraid to make the contact which would merge the past with the present, Mrs. Grant, nevertheless, made up her mind to try and meet Dawn. "I telephoned her at the hotel the morning after 'Othello,'" she says. "Got her out of bed, too, the poor dear. And do you know, she remembered! I had barely told her my name before she was clamoring to see me."

"My favorite teacher," she kept repeating, over and over again.

The two women met that afternoon. Mrs. Grant says they looked at each other for several seconds without saying a word . . . both trying, she supposes, to conjure up those images of the past.

Mrs. Grant doesn't remember what was finally said. All she knows is that the meeting, arranged for one hour, stretched on through the afternoon and continued at her home, where they went for dinner, and the evening.

Talking Brings Past in Line With Present

A reception planned for the players after the final performance was by-passed by Dawn. "She just wanted to talk and talk," Mrs. Grant tells you. "Finally she seemed to be talked out and curled up like a little girl in one of our big chairs and fell asleep. My husband and I had to wake her to take her back to the hotel."

Putting the pieces together that evening revealed that Dawn's climb to her present position with Canadian Players had not been easy. She told Mrs. Grant of a lone escape from a Japanese prison camp where she and her parents were interned; of reaching Hong Kong and being befriended by the famed Flying Tigers and their wives; of her decision to go to America instead of the British Isles, and of smuggling word back to her parents (still in the camp) to this effect. She reached Seattle, where she worked to earn money to take her on to Montreal. There, former Shanghai friends took her in and helped her to complete her education. Teachers at the school she attended helped to clothe and feed her.

Finally her parents were repatriated and came to Toronto and the little family was reunited.

"Dawn deserves to win, she has worked so hard," Mrs. Grant says of her former pupil.

Will they meet again? "We have made plans," she says. "Dawn has invited me to visit her in New York, where she is to continue her studies, and I hope to accept that invitation before too long. In any case we plan to correspond. We are not going to lose track again. You see, the teacher-pupil picture has been wiped out. We discovered we liked each other as grown-up people. We are friends!"

Sheila Halford and Hugh Curtis Wed in a Small, Family Ceremony

Gowned in a traditional, full-length gown of nylon, tulle and lace, Miss Sheila Diane Halford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Whitmore Halford, Vancouver, entered St. John's Church on the arm of her father, to become the bride of Hugh Austin Curtis, son of Ald. and Mrs. Austin Curtis, 1050 Pentrelew Place, Victoria.

The petite and lovely bride chose to complement her gown, fashioned with lace inserts in bodice and skirt, a shoulder-length veil of misting net edged with illusion lace, held to a tiny coronet sprinkled with rhinestones. She wore pearl jewelry, wrist-length white gloves and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and carnations with fine fern.

The bride was attended by Miss Sue Mitchell of Vancouver, maid of honor. She chose a gown of turquoise nylon tulle fashioned with draped shoulder line and three-quarter-length skirt. She wore matching shoes and coronet and carried a bouquet of daffodils, roses and yellow blossoms. Junior bridesmaid was the bride's niece, Miss Lynn Halford, also of Vancouver, who wore a pale blue crinolined frock with tiny collar. Her head bandeau was matching blue and she carried a basket of roses and daffodils.

The groom had FO Michael Cromie, RCAF, as best man, and Donald Matheson, as usher.

Canon George Biddle officiated at the small, family wedding, in a setting of white stocks, daffodils and fern and white candles on the main altar. Daffodils and white ribbon streamers marked guest pews.

Organist was Frederick Chubb, who played traditional wedding music during the ceremony and the signing of the register.

RECEIVED GUESTS

At the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, guests were received by the bride couple and their parents. Mrs. Halford wore a black wool dress with black and white accessories, a pink hat and mink stole. Her corsage was a white gardenia with blue ribbon. Mrs. Curtis' dress was of pale blue lace with black and white accessories and a mink cape. A white gardenia and pink ribbon made up her corsage. A three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink rosebuds and topped with lily of the valley was surrounded with tulle on the bride's table. Pink candles and flowers completed the arrangement on the lace-covered table. Sprays of white blossom decorated the mantel. Harold Halford of Vancouver proposed the toast to the bride, his niece.

For her going-away outfit, the bride donned an oxford grey Sybil Connely imported suit with navy blue cashmere coat, navy hat and red calfskin shoes and bag. Her corsage was of white roses.

Following a honeymoon in Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have made their home at Suite 6, 1505 Morrison Street.

Fight to Preach in English Church

LONDON (Reuters)—A group of women is making a new attempt to end the ban on women ministers in the Church of England. Known as the Anglican Group for the Ordination of Women, it passed a resolution at a recent annual meeting to campaign actively within the Church of England for its views.

Hitherto, the group, which was founded in 1950, has deliberately refrained from public debate on the issue.

But it now believes the time has come to give women a chance to enter the ministry. The women have decided to end their restraint and put forward a reasoned case. They are making plans to provide discussion within the Church of England through pamphlets and study groups.

"In our view," they have declared, "the strength of the opposition to women lies less in prejudice inherited from primitive times. It seems to us irreverent

Live With Contemporary Art If You Would Understand It

Few people are honest with themselves in offering opinions on contemporary art. Tony Emery told members of the University Women's Club of Victoria at their meeting Wednesday evening.

In addition to honesty, the layman must have the courage to change his opinions, and the speaker pointed out. "Indeed, such change implies growth and vitality of the mind."

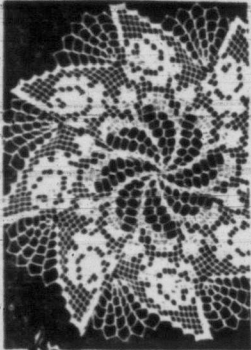

To understand contemporary work it is important, above all, to become familiar with it, Mr. Emery said.

"Go to galleries, attend lectures, visit local artists, read books and magazines and more valuable still, look at the pictures. Have the work of contemporary artists in your homes," he urged.

Women are, in general, better equipped to look at and appreciate paintings, the well-known junior high school teacher and columnist assured his audience. "They are continually engaged in the selection and arrangement of furniture, flowers and clothes. It is the exercise of this critical faculty that enables them to select and reject the good and bad in painting."

Mr. Emery was introduced by Mrs. D. A. Robertson and thanked by Mrs. C. E. D. Hare.

Mrs. M. F. Smith presided and during the business meeting Mrs. C. D. Stockill introduced Mrs. R. J. Cumming, Mrs. C. P. S. Morgan and Miss Helen Rattray as new members. Final plans were reported by Mrs. W. G. Dempsey for the scholarship tea at Oak Bay Beach Hotel on March 30.

"Many Thanks"—At meeting of Metropolitan United Church Woman's Missionary Society, Mrs. E. R. Bewell read a letter from Miss Beulah Bourne, a missionary in Hong Kong, telling of the party at which gifts and hundreds of pairs of socks were given out. Some of the recipients, Miss Bourne wrote, were receiving gifts for the first time. Mrs. J. Boorman presided; Miss Grace Bedford, literature secretary, reported on books available for reading, and the speaker, Rev. E. Laura Butler, reviewed a portion of a book on Southeast Asia, "The Pattern of Things to Come," with particular emphasis on Hong Kong. Miss Butler also showed pictures of Christian work in Hong Kong.

Asks About Growth of Hair on Face, Thighs

Q—"Lately I have noticed a new growth of hair on my face and thighs where I have never had any before. Could this be due to a vitamin deficiency? I would like to know how to correct this before it gets any worse."

A—"This probably is due to a glandular change which is natural at your age. You might ask your physician about it. He may feel that you need hormones or that you are taking too many. You can have unwanted hair removed permanently by electrolysis."

Q—"Are chin-straps effective in any way or are they just a waste of time?"

A—"There is a difference of opinion. Good posture and good muscle tone are most important, but chin straps may help, too. They really do not waste time since you can wear one while you sleep or around the house while you do your work."

Q—"I have been told to use a vinegar and water rinse to lighten my hair but all it did was to ruin my permanent. Why is this?"

A—"I think the failure of your permanent must be due to some other factor. I never have heard of a vinegar rinse ruining a permanent. In fact, I myself have used this rinse for years without ill effect on my permanents."

Q—"I am 13 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh 118 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 27 and hips 36. I know I am out of proportion in my waist and hips. I can't wear a tight skirt because it makes me look awful. How much should I lose?"

A—"You should not lose much although you are a little on the chubby side. Lose five or six pounds by leaving off the extras such as candy bars and soda fountain foods and drinks and cookies for a little while. Eat fresh fruit in between meals."

ask Andy

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Lynne Kneisley, 12, Pequea, Penna., for her question:

Do Fish Go to Sleep?

Andy crept out of bed to see if his goldfish had gone to sleep. No, the restless fellow was still gliding gracefully through the water. Everything was quiet, so Andy and his pet got into conversation about going to sleep. The fish explained that he never needed to lie down and go to sleep as we do. As to closing his eyes, that is impossible. He has no eyelids. For a fish's eyes are covered and protected with fixed window panes.

"However," added Goldie, "I do need rest once in a while. You saw me resting this afternoon." "Was that when you stopped swimming and stayed near the bottom of the bowl?" asked Andy. "But your mouth was opening and closing as usual and, as far as I remember, your fins were waving. Now what kind of rest is that?"

"It suited me fine," said the fish. "After all, when you go to sleep your chest keeps on moving up and down. Naturally, you are breathing, and so was I. I breathe by swallowing water and sending it out of my gill flaps which are located where you wear your ears. The oxygen is taken out of the water by my feathery gills. I must keep on breathing day and night, just as you must. As to my fins, I was waving them to keep my balance."

Goldie went on to explain that Sunshine filters through these surface waters, turning them into a sort of foggy daytime. Further down the light grows dimmer until it ends in total darkness. Night brings darkness to the surface waters as it does to the land. Then comes more trouble for the surface swimmers. Up comes the octopus and the giant squid from the eternal darkness below. There is no chance for the fish to rest in the daytime. There is, even less chance to sleep at night. For them the chase is joined by larger creatures and the pace is even faster.

Hope's decision ended several months of uncertainty for the CNE during which its officials attempted to persuade the comedian to give a definite answer.

Honor Plays Chosen Tonight In Schools Drama Festival

By AUDREY ST-D. JOHNSON

Excitement in the Greater Victoria Schools' Drama Festival reaches its climax tonight. Following a program of plays at Oak Bay Junior High School, Mrs. Dorothy Goldrick will conclude her adjudicating with an announcement of three plays selected for the honor performance Saturday night at Victoria High School.

Many outstanding productions appear to be strong contenders for the three coveted places. Of those plays seen Thursday night at Lansdowne Junior High School, at least two "possibles" were revealed.

"THE WEESHY MAN"
Presented by Lansdowne Junior High School. Director: Judith Mayes. Cast: Old Nanny—Evelyn Dowling; Rhonda—Margaret Garrison; Tom—Ken Foster; Kathleen—Rosemary Turner; Ellen—Rosalind Johnson.

"THE SENTIMENTAL SCARECROW"
Presented by Lansdowne Junior High School. Director: Judith Mayes. Cast: The Scarecrow—Joanne Dunn; The Blundering Sister—Darlene Easton; The Gypsy Girl—Heather Fraser; Gypsy Woman—Penny Todd; Gypsy Mother—Susan Watson; Gypsy Boy—David Panton; Gypsy Girl—Margaret Austin; Gypsy: Heather Murray, Linda Miller, Susan Wallis, Leslie Fraser, Sharon MacDonald, Maryline England.

This set was simple but most charming to look at, the adjudicator commented. Barry Lauritsen had made a delightful scarecrow, she thought. There was a great deal of light and shade and real meaning in his voice. "What a pretty scene when the gypsies came on," Mrs. Goldrick observed, adding that it had been a pleasure to hear violins actually being played on the stage.

"THE CRADLE SONG"
Presented by Oak Bay Senior High School. Director: Catherine Emery. Cast: The Princess—Catherine Emery; The Vicar—Gordon Parr; Sister Joanna of the Cross—Gordon Parr; Sister Maria Jesus—Heather Morgan; Sister Marcella—Joanne Dunn; Sister Sagrario—Mary Spillhouse; Sister Inez—Norma Dickenson; Sister Teresa—Kari Gudmundsdottir.

Tremendous task well carried out. very well done, was Mrs. Goldrick's comment on what she described as an ambitious project. She found the timing and tempo excellent, and the whole piece to have been done in true Japanese style.

The production had a three-dimensional aspect, that was clever and unusual, she remarked.

Better use of voices to bring out emotions was suggested, but the adjudicator had nothing but praise for set, costumes, the attractive Geisha girls and excellent memorization on the part of the chorus.

Originality Praised in Costumes, Set among many good sets seen in the festival to date, in the adjudicator's opinion.

Tom Jones had a particularly fine voice, although she noted good color in all voices in this cast. She commended Peter Daniel for the quality of excitement he achieved.

Tonight's program will consist of "Roughly Speaking," presented by Victoria High School; "Make Room for Rodney," by Mount Douglas High, and "Finders Keepers," by Oak Bay Senior High.

Pro-Tem Cop Finds Success Unappreciated

MONTREAL, (CP) — The impromptu policeman's lot is not a happy one, Arthur W. Smith of nearby Lachine has learned.

Smith, his car caught in a traffic jam at an intersection, got out and began waving directions to his snarled fellow motorists.

He cleared the jam, but while he was busily making life a traffic cop, along came the real thing and tagged him for double-parking.

"It's best to leave traffic problems to men who are employed to take care of them," Judge E. J. McMamamy said philosophically as he fined Smith $5.

WARSAW, Poland (Reuters) — Polish soldiers no longer have to sing before going to bed. New army regulations say the compulsory songs and the compulsory walk before bedtime have been abolished so that soldiers can get more sleep.

LA SPEZIA, Italy (AP) — An apple seller made the mistake of offering a couple to three parading circus elephants.

They liked the sample so much they broke ranks and chomped away about 40 pounds of the fruit before circus trainers could get them away from the stand.

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — A bulldozer working on a highway project uncovered an ore vein and eager residents of this rich mining district worked through the night with flashlights to stake claims on both sides of the road.

Engineers said the bulldozer uncovered a vein about two feet wide. A piece of ore the size of his hand assayed 2½ ounces of silver and about three per cent lead, with traces of copper and zinc, he said.

CANBERRA (AP) — A survivor from the wrecked treasure hunting ship Gold Seeker has admitted to Australian immigration officials he is an escaped American convict.

The man, Blaine Beers, originally gave the name of Burke and said he was a Canadian seaman born in Vancouver.

Later he told officials he had escaped from a road gang while serving a 10-year prison sentence in Florida for passing valueless cheques.

Beers was one of six men who reached Darwin March 12 after sailing from Timor in a 16-foot open boat.

BIG CHANGE
The Clyde at Glasgow was a small, shallow stream until it was dredged a century ago to accommodate great shipyards.

DR. ADAMS MURDER TRIAL

Nurse Gave Dying Woman Injection Without Order

LONDON (CP)—A nurse who saw the death of the old lady Dr. John Bodkin Adams is accused of murdering testified today she gave the ailing woman an injection on her own responsibility an hour before she died.

"If you are right and your memory is right," demanded Geoffrey Lawrence, defence counsel, "there was a serious breach of duty that night."

"Yes," replied nurse Caroline Sylvia Randall.

"It is quite inexplicable?"

"Yes."

Under intense questioning by defence, nurse Randall described the final hours of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell to a jury of 10 men and two women. Adams, 58-year-old bachelor society doctor who is charged with fatally drugging the rich 81-year-old widow to gain an inheritance under her will, cooked an ear to listen attentively. The nurse testified she received £300 from Mrs. Morrell's will.

WITHDRAWS ACCUSATION

At the beginning of the cross-examination Thursday Miss Randall had testified there was no justification for her earlier accusation at a preliminary hearing that heroin prescribed by Dr. Adams affected Mrs. Morrell adversely.

The stern-faced justice, Sir Patrick Arthur Devlin, startled courtroom spectators by suddenly asking the Crown counsel whether he maintained that drugs administered Mrs. Morrell the night of her death were given "with the intention" of killing her.

Seemingly caught by surprise, Attorney-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller rose and after a pause replied: "I must say I do submit that they were given deliberately by Dr. Adams and they accelerated the death of the patient. But I won't elaborate. I adhere to that and my medical evidence will indicate why."

"I am very much obliged," said the judge politely. "That is what I wanted to know."

Miss Randall testified she gave Mrs. Morrell an injection of paraldehyde—a sleeping drug—an hour before the woman died but failed to record it in the case logbook.

The nurse said she could remember "how dreadful" Mrs. Morrell's jerks were as she neared the end of her life. But Lawrence stressed that the enquiries she had made in her nursing reports at the time referred not to jerking but to the patient being "very shaky."

Justice Sir Patrick Devlin intervened to ask the witness:

"Have you got, apart from what was written down, a clear recollection in your mind of her being jerky an hour and a half before she died?"

The middle-aged nurse replied: "I have, and I never want to see anything like it again."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Heavenly Father, help me to keep my heart clean, and to live so honestly and fearlessly that no outward failure can dishearten me. Open wide the eyes of my soul that I may see good in all things; in Christ's name. Amen.

BARE FACT IS THIS: HE'D OVERSLEPT ANYWAY

CAMPBELL RIVER—Loggers at Salmon River Logging Company operations 40 miles north of here set a choker a few days ago on a big cedar log, and signalled for it to be hauled away.

Rudy Belin, hooktender, watched it go safely to the roadside, bumping along the ground and bouncing a bit at the end of a steel cable.

B.C. Doctors Fight Tax on $390,000 In 'Kickbacks'

Appeal Ruling On Commissions For Spectacles

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Federal Revenue Department's claim that 20 Vancouver and Victoria doctors have taken $390,000 in "kickbacks" on spectacle prescriptions in the last 10 years was being appealed here today.

The doctors have appealed the revenue department's assessments, claiming the money was non-taxable capital gain on shares in Prescription Optical Co. Ltd.

The government assessments on what the Crown lawyers described as "secret commissions" or "kickbacks" range from $4,488 to $54,754 per doctor since 1947.

CONSPIRACY CLAIMED

The government answered the appeal against the assessment by claiming a conspiracy between the doctors and Standard Optical Co., Imperial Optical Co., Prescription Optical Co. Ltd., Oculist Prescription Co. Ltd., and H. A. Boyaner "in fraud of the government of Canada to arrange a purported sale of shares in the capital stock of Oculist Prescription Co. Ltd. to Standard Optical Co. Ltd. and to represent the said money as capital receipts, whereas the money received by the appellants as a result of the said conspiracy was income."

ABOARD "DDE 207," Strait of Georgia—On March 30, the wicked-looking, shark-nosed ship in which we are slicing through coastal waters will become Her Majesty's Canadian ship Skeena.

Today, on builder's trials with 70 press, radio and television representatives aboard, she's still "DDE 207," a ship with a number, awaiting her name.

DDE 207 still wears the red ensign, to be replaced with the white when she becomes a full-fledged fighting ship.

But in every other way, this is a living ship we're aboard—a ship packed with power and a bewildering of electronic controlled devices, designed with one purpose:

This is one of 14 anti-submarine destroyer escorts which form the nucleus of Canada's new navy. And it is the first to be built, fitted out, and commissioned on the west coast.

DDE 207 will also be the first of the new class to be assigned to the Pacific Command. She'll be based at Esquimalt, as a member of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

There's a buzz that the west coast eventually will have six of the new DDEs now building or fitting-out, with the other eight stationed on the west coast.

Sharp Break With RN Design

Canada's current ship-building program marks a sharp break with our traditional dependency on the Royal Navy for design and building.

Formerly, Canadian destroyers were either built in the U.K. or, if built in Canada, patterned after U.K. ships.

The new DDE class is completely Canadian—designed and built, to suit the needs of Canada's navy.

The lead ship in the class, HMCS St. Laurent, was equipped with machinery manufactured in Britain. But Skeena-to-be is Canadian from the keel up, including the boilers and turbines which drive her through the water at a secret—but very, very fast—speed. She is the "product" of Burrard Drydock Ltd. of Vancouver.

This despatch is being radio-telephoned from DDE 207's wireless "shack"—which bears as much resemblance to the dit-dit-dit communications room of other years as does the ice cream made aboard resemble hardtack and bully beef.

The room is a maze of equipment. To give you an idea—there are 12 separate telephone systems for internal communication within the ship. There are three

$709,000 'Lost' Probers Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate racket investigating committee today declared its investigation of the Teamsters' Union in the West has shown $709,420.14 of union funds either "lost or misappropriated and still unaccounted for."

Chairman John McClellan (Dem.-Ark.) put this accusation into the record. He said it marks the completion of "this phase of an investigation which has covered 16 days of public hearings."

Frank W. Brewster, chairman of the western conference of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, was on the witness stand the last five days. He was the last witness.

Ike Says He's Ready To Take Full Part In Baghdad Alliance

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP)—President Eisenhower today informed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the United States was willing to join the military phase of the Baghdad Pact.

The Arab nations, it was announced, have been advised of the new American position through a presidential mission now in the Middle East.

The President gave the same news to Macmillan and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd here today.

Eisenhower and Macmillan spent most of the morning exploring the Anglo-American views on European integration, the two nations on atomic relations with the Soviet Union weapons.

Action Forced by Red Menace

Official U.S. announcement of Baghdad Pact participation said, "Participation, if members of the pact so desire and indicate their willingness to have us become members, is related solely to the communist menace and in Asia carries no political connotation with respect to intra-area matters."

A spokesman said the United States already was a member of the pact's economic and counter-subversive committees. With the latest development it would now belong to all three committees. Pact members are the United Kingdom, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey.

The American spokesman, Andrew Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, strongly emphasized that the new move would not entail additional military assistance by the United States to pact members, all of whom already receive military assistance.

But what it would do, he said, would be to permit joint mili-

Settlement Near

LONDON (AP)—Union leaders and shipyard employers said today they have reached a basis to negotiate the end of a strike of 200,000 shipyard workers, now in its sixth day. The officials also said they had reached a basis for a settlement of a threatened nation-wide railroad strike.

UNEF Must Control Gaza Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the United Nations Emergency Force must have "effective control" of administration in the Gaza Strip if it is to carry out its responsibility to keep the peace along the Israel-Gaza border.

If Egypt does not agree to this, he said in the Commons, "the continued operation of UNEF would be prejudiced."

He added that it would be difficult for Canada to participate in the force if conditions did not allow her to discharge her UNEF responsibilities satisfactorily. He hoped such conditions would not arise.

Mr. Pearson made his statement in response to opposition questions.

ERRONEOUS

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) asked about a news report that Mr. Hammarskjold has taken the position that Israel would have to withdraw from a small triangle of land in the Negev Desert—the El-Auja zone—in order to establish a right to send ships through the Suez Canal. Mr. Green said that seems "an amazing stand."

Mr. Pearson replied he had telephoned UN headquarters in New York earlier this morning and had been assured that the news report was wrong. He said it was a question of demilitarizing the El-Auja zone—not of Israel giving it up.

On the Gaza situation, Mr. Pearson informed Mr. Green that although UNEF troops are being deployed along the Egypt-Israel demarcation line in the Gaza area two-thirds of the force was still inside the Gaza Strip.

Canadians felt that Egypt should co-operate fully in allowing the UNEF to carry out its responsibilities. If Egypt was unwilling to do that, the UNEF task would be impossible and the matter should be referred immediately to the UN Assembly.

The problem was to find a practical balance between Egypt's "legal position" to administer the Gaza Strip under the 1949 armistice agreement and the "practical position" which the UN had to take.

WORST IN 30 YEARS

San Francisco Quake Sways Big Buildings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A heavy earthquake shook San Francisco at 11:45 a.m. today.

It was followed immediately by another lighter shock.

A lighter quake had shaken the city at 10:48 a.m.

Downtown buildings swayed. Unlike the earlier quake, the big shock was felt in other areas surrounding San Francisco Bay.

It was the worst shock San Francisco has experienced in 30 years.

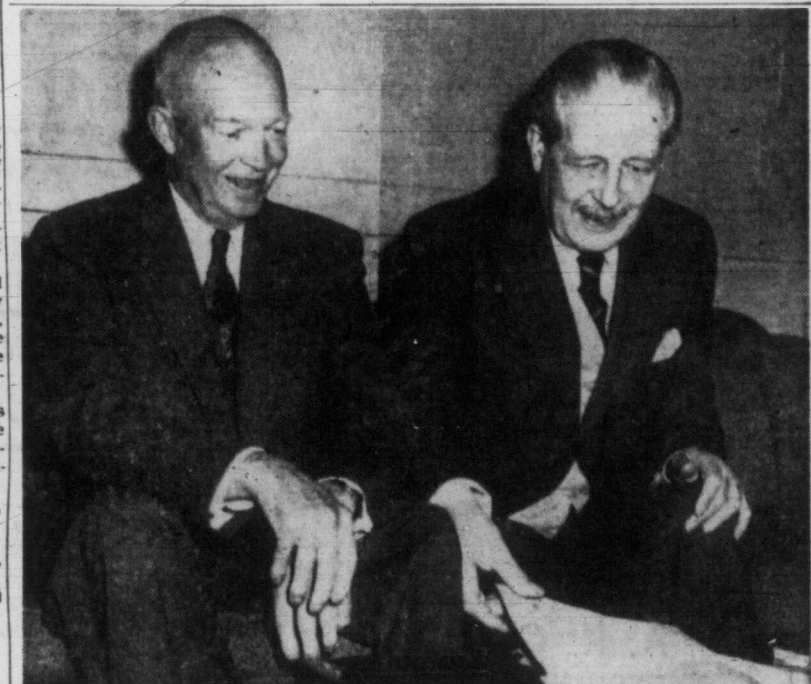

It was felt slightly 40 miles from San Francisco.

Stocks of groceries fell in some shops.

The quake, appeared to have both an up and down motion and a sideways roll.

SEATTLE (AP)—Another earthquake of "destructive intensity" was recorded early today in the Aleutian Island area that has been intermittently quaking for two weeks.

The new tremor was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph at 6:27.03 a.m. PST.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

The Old Master Gets Fired Up

If Premier Bennett hadn't taken up politics he might have been a leading evangelist.

Listening to his flood of oratory on the $28 rebate to home-owners Thursday my mind went back to a day in 1954 when I reported an address by American spellbinder Billy Graham before an audience of 100,000 at London's Wembley Stadium.

On a much smaller scale, the impact was similar—people craning forward in their seats, tense and excited as passionate words of appeal were thrown out at them by a man who seemed on fire with his subject.

"He's a hypnotist," observed one of my colleagues as the premier harangued the

CCF for opposing his pet scheme to encourage people to own their own homes.

And the more opposition he got the more vehement the premier became. He waved his black-rimmed glasses in broad, sweeping gestures, like a conductor's baton, and he shook a prophetic forefinger at the CCF as he cried:

"All Canada is watching you. And they are watching the Liberal party, too."

He teased Liberal members George Gregory (Victoria) and P. A. Gibbs (Oak Bay) for supporting the home-owners' bill when what he called the Liberal press—The Victoria Times and The Vancouver Sun—had condemned it.

Liberals Voted Solidly Against Times, Sun

"When I travel across Canada I shall say that all that was left of the once great Liberal party voted solidly against The Times and The Sun."

Mr. Bennett also attacked Tom Uphill, the 83-year-old Labor Independent member for Fernie after he had said of the government:

"They are as free from brains as an elephant is from hair."

Mr. Uphill denounced the rebate as a "vote-catcher" which offered no help to those who could not afford their own homes, and quoted the Biblical words, "Unto him that hath shall be given and from him that hath not shall be taken away."

"That is the spirit of this bill," he declared.

Later, when the premier took him severely to task, Mr. Uphill replied:

'Everything Was Believed But the Facts'

The words he quoted were: "Rumor wrote the history, gossip read the proofs, and everything was believed but the facts."

Dan Campbell (S.C. Comox) was passing cigars around the legislature Thursday on becoming the father of an eight-pound, six-ounce baby girl.

The baby was born at St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox. "I don't yet know what we are going to call her," Mr. Campbell said, "but it will be something Irish."

Possibly the House was tired when it reassembled for a night sitting at 8:30 o'clock, and this may have been responsible for several slips of the tongue.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan led off by addressing Speaker Irwin as "Mister Swicker." Labor Minister Lydie Wicks then accused the CCF of "pointing the scorn of finger" at the government.

"That is, I mean the finger of scorn," Mr. Wicks amended. "Dear me, I must have French blood in me."

Magsaysay Buried

MANILA (Reuters) — Crowds swept across the roads and blocked all but a few official mourners from the funeral cortege of President Ramon Magsaysay today in an extraordinary display of public affection.

$77,000 B.C. Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Damage estimated at $77,000 was caused when fire struck Mount Pleasant Bowling Alley and adjoining lamp store in Vancouver early today.

"I will take it all back if you will be my campaign manager."

If you vote against this bill you will NEED a campaign manager," the premier retorted amid loud laughter.

Mr. Speaker Tom Irwin had to ring the bell twice in calling for a division on the bill.

"Someone complained that he did not hear it the first time," Mr. Irwin said.

"Possibly it was drowned out by the premier's oratory," said Arthur Turner, laconic CCF member for Vancouver East.

Quotations are in vogue this session and Mr. Turner quoted from an essay by Robert Ingersoll when appealing to the government to tell the public "the truth" about why the CCF voted against the home-owners' tax rebate.

Act to amend the Adoption Act.

"There's a lot of double talk going on in here tonight," observed CCF Opposition Leader Strachan.

Twin Election Triumph Cheers U.K. Tories

LONDON (Reuters) — Conservative party leaders were cheered today by two by-election results which sent the son of an American professor to Parliament and in their view put a brake on the government's sagging popularity.

At both Newcastle North and Beckenham the Labor party slashed the Conservative majorities recorded in the 1955 general election. But the slump in the Conservative vote was much less than in other recent by-elections.

The results: Beckenham: P. G. Goodhart, Conservative, 29,621; N. D. Sanderson, Labor, 17,445. Conservative majority 12,176. 1955 majority—21,237.

Newcastle North: R. W. Elliot, Conservative, 19,017; T. L. Macdonald, Labor, 12,555. Conservative majority: 6,462. 1955 majority—10,993.

Goodhart, a newspaper man, is the son of New York-born A. L. Goodhart, dean of University College at Oxford University.

The surprising feature of the two by-elections was that at Newcastle, centre of an area critically affected by the current strike of 200,000 shipworkers, the Conservative share of the vote dropped only 3.6 per cent. But in Beckenham, a prosperous London suburb, the Conservative drop was 6.03 per cent.

But either way the figures are an improvement as far as the government is concerned.

sters' union, in a public hearing Tuesday.

Today, along with testimony from Brewster, the senators heard a staff investigator testify he found nothing in the union's records to reflect loans to Beck until 1954, when he said the Internal Revenue Service began investigating Beck's affairs.

This testimony came from Carmine Bellino, an accountant, and, investigator for congressional groups.

NO INTEREST PAID

Beck has said that he borrowed, but has since repaid, $300,000 to $400,000 of union funds without posting security or paying interest.

Bellino said reports to the government by the Seattle Teamsters' Joint Council's Building Association showed accounts receivable at the end of 1953 as $7,422.89 but the next annual statement showed accounts receivable of $27,422.89.

The staff accountant said the union building association's cash receipts book they reflected a $200,000 repayment from Beck in August, 1954, and a later $50,000 payment.

Brewster came before the senators from U.S. district court, where he was arraigned on charges of contempt of Congress and entered a plea of not guilty.

REFUSED TO ANSWER

The charge grew out of his refusal to answer questions at an earlier senate inquiry.

Arraigned with Brewster, and also pleading not guilty was Einar O. Mohn, executive vice-president of the teamsters.

Two lesser union officials also were scheduled for arraignment. Nugent La Poma, secretary-treasurer of teamsters' Local 174 in Seattle, Wash., pleaded not guilty. Harry Reiss, welfare fund administrator of Local 227 in New York, did not answer when his name was called.

The judge set the trial dates at May 20 for Brewster, June 3 for Mohn, and May 27 for La Poma.

67 Missing Aboard U.S. Army Plane

TOKYO (AP) — Fear mounted tonight for the lives of 67 persons aboard a U.S. military transport plane which disappeared early today off Japan in stormy, shark-infested waters as it neared the end of its trans-Pacific flight.

Low clouds and rain squalls hampered air search and 30-foot swells reduced visibility of searching ships almost to zero.

The four-engine C-97, military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser, left Wake Island Thursday afternoon for Tokyo on the last leg of a flight from Travis air base near San Francisco.

The air force said 57 passengers and a crew of 10 were aboard, with the passengers including 27 air force personnel, 17 army and 10 navy, two civilian government employees (both men), and a woman military dependent.

All the crew, which included at least one woman, were members of the air force.

Fags Cause Cancer Scientists Report

NEW YORK (AP) — A study group of seven scientists said in a report made public today that "scientific evidence established beyond reasonable doubt that cigarette smoking is a causative factor in the rapidly increasing incidence" of lung cancer.

"Lung cancer occurs much more frequently five to 15 times among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, and there is a direct relationship between the incidence of lung cancer and the amount smoked," the report said.

"It is estimated that on a life-time basis, one of every 10 men who smoke over two packs a day will die of lung cancer. The comparable risk among non-smokers is estimated at one out of 275."

FOUR GROUPS SPONSORS

The seven scientists were organized into "the study group on smoking and health" last

June at the suggestion of the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, the National Cancer Institute, and the National Heart Institute to review the effects of tobacco smoking on health.

Both the cancer society and the heart association stressed in statements today that neither had studied nor evaluated the study group's report.

tary planning against Communist aggression in that area.

It was explained that the next move would be a meeting of the pact council to consider the U.S. intention and to accept their offer, and that the American action in the military committee would be wholly confined to combatting Communist aggression, whereas under the terms of the pact the members could take action in defence against any aggression.

As the Bermuda talks continued, the United States seemed to evidence an increasing willingness to take part in the affairs of all nations outside the Soviet bloc. The American theory seemed to be that any effort to pull the free nations together to resist Russia was worthwhile.

Before going into afternoon meeting Eisenhower had lunch with his top defence and atomic advisers, who mapped the United States position on Anglo-American defence against the Soviet Union.

Joint production of atomic weapons and guided missiles to counter Russian boasts of globe-circling atom bombers was expected to be a major topic.

The doctors' appeal opened Monday and is expected to continue for the next two weeks before Cecil L. Snyder, QC, of Ottawa, assistant chairman of the income tax appeal board.

Eighteen doctors and the estates of two deceased doctors are appealing.

Following are the doctors and their income tax assessments:

A. R. Anthony, $54,754; C. E. Davies, $35,904; J. A. McLean, $23,172; J. A. Smith Estate, $28,723; R. G. Lawrence, $27,377; H. S. B. Galbraith, $24,235; F. P. McNamee, Kamloops, $19,000; H. G. Grieve, Victoria, $19,000; L. H. Webster, $17,900;

E. F. Raynor, $16,157; G. S. Elliott, $13,464; L. H. Leeson, $13,464; J. A. Stewart, Victoria, $12,000; G. H. Francis, $9,088; O. E. Kirby, $8,976; Josephine Mallek and Howard Mallek, $8,976; W. E. Ainley, $7,180; E. E. Day, $7,180; R. S. Grimmer Estate, $4,488.

Max Grossman, crown counsel, claimed the "kickbacks" are the continuation of a 1931 agreement.

Under this agreement, he said Imperial Optical agreed to pay doctors the difference between invoice wholesale price and retail sale price on all glasses and lenses resulting from prescriptions issued by the doctors. The minimum amount set on each prescription "kickback," he said, was $4.50.

Mr. Grossman said that when the B.C. Medical Act of 1946 declared agreements of this type illegal, the doctors were "scared" to take out their "kickback."

He claimed that $60,000 accumulated within the year between the act and establishment of Prescription Optical Co. Ltd. in September, 1947.

Rioting Women Wetted Down

PORTAGE-LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Fire hoses were used to quell a "minor riot" at the Manitoba jail for women here Thursday night, a fire department official said.

He said firemen called after the disturbance by seven women broke out in a basement kitchen "turned out a couple of fire lines on them and wetted them down."

Firemen were back at their quarters within 50 minutes.

Jail officials and police referred all requests for information to Deputy Attorney-General O. M. H. Kay, who would not comment Thursday night.

However, it was reported the women involved broke "every dish they could lay their hands on."

No one was reported injured.

PORTRAIT STIRS STORM

'Jowly' Philip Shocks Britons

LONDON (AP) — Britons were somewhat shocked today by a new portrait of Prince Philip showing him with jowls, a receding hairline and a gimlet eye.

Italian artist Pietro Annigoni did the painting on commission from the Fishmongers' Company, a London guild which also hired him to do a portrait of the Queen last year.

First photographs of the portrait, which will hang next to the Queen's in the Fishmongers' Hall, were published in the tabloid Daily Mirror.

Annigoni, now in India, told the paper he had painted the 35-year-old Duke of Edinburgh before leaving on the tour of the southern hemisphere from which he recently returned.

"I see the prince as one who knows exactly where he is going—a single-minded man, a man of purpose and confidence, a man who is going in one direction and does not propose to let anything prevent him."

"I do not see Prince Philip as a playboy. I paint him as I see him."

The Mirror's art critic remarked on "the compelling eye, glaring out of the canvas and transfixing the viewer with its power and authority."

Philip, wearing the green robes of the Royal Order of the Thistle, posed for a total of 18 hours at Buckingham Palace before leaving on the tour of the southern hemisphere from which he recently returned.

U.K. Boys 'Regular' Smokers

CHELTONHAM, Eng. (AP)—One-third of the 307 boys aged 11 to 16 at Elmfield secondary modern school regard themselves as regular smokers.

One started smoking at six, and several at seven. One 14-year-old said "smoking helps me to relax. My dad lets me smoke."

The smoking habits of the boys were disclosed in an article today in the medical journal Lancet.

Dr. A. Parry Jones, who wrote the article, called for a stricter enforcement of the law forbidding the sale of cigarettes to children under 16.

Socred Asks Plebiscite On Private School Tax

Tisdalle Fights Exemption Plan; Claims Support by Backbenchers

Signs of opposition among Social Credit backbenchers to the government's move to exempt private schools from taxation emerged in the legislature Thursday night.

John Tisdalle (SC-Saanich) said the government should take a plebiscite before passing this section of the new Municipal Act.

Exemption 'Radical Departure'

"This exemption is a radical departure from constitutional practice in this province," Mr. Tisdalle told the House, "and it will create a division of public opinion throughout B.C."

He recalled that a plebiscite was taken on daylight saving time in 1952 and said the same policy should be followed in this issue.

SECOND READING

He spoke during second reading of the bill outlining the 899-section act.

John Squire (CCF-Alberni) also emphasized that CCF opposition to the tax exemption on private schools contained in the new act included all types of private schools.

"People think we were referring to one particular type of separate school," he said, in an obvious reference to Roman Catholic schools.

"We feel that how a person educates his children is entirely up to him," Mr. Squire said, "providing it meets the standards of the province."

"But if he chooses other than public schools—then he must assume financial responsibility."

The CCF member said it had been stated his party's stand on the controversial issue was "political suicide."

Members of the CCF were bound to stick to their principles on the matter, regardless of the effects, he said.

Earlier this week, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the CCF would urge that the government reconsider the taxation issue.

ONE REQUEST

Mr. Squire also criticized the change in the new act on taxes paid by utility companies to municipalities.

Only one municipality had requested a change in the 2 per cent tax on gross revenue in lieu of property taxes, he said. "Why hang all the other municipalities?" Mr. Squire asked.

The City of Port Alberni would lose money, he added, under the new plan to have utility companies pay a 1 per cent tax on gross revenues and a 10-mill share of school taxes.

Mr. Squire said outside the chamber Saanich was the only municipality which sought the change before the legislative municipal committee.

Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black said he would present statistics during third reading of the bill to back up the tax change.

Trapped Trio Spend 24 Hours On Tiny Rock

PARRSBORO, N.S. (CP)—Three badly chilled and exhausted men waded ashore at nearby Economy Thursday after being trapped on a tiny slab of rock in Minas Basin for more than 24 hours.

The men were trapped by fast rising Bay of Fundy tides about noon Wednesday as they walked along a slender ridge of rock and mud while searching for a missing naval Avenger aircraft. They spent a tortuous night on the rocky platform in the height of a wind-driven snow storm.

The three, Alvin Maclellan, 18, Garner Morrison, 27, and Burl Downing, 22, all of Centre Economy, were resting in their homes Thursday night. Young Maclellan required medical attention for exposure and exhaustion.

B.C. Lawmakers Hear Sunday Sport Battle

The battle for commercial Sunday sport in Vancouver opened before a legislature committee today.

The private bills committee will decide, behind closed doors, whether the city's application for a charter amendment permitting sports on the Sabbath between 1.30 and 6 p.m. should be passed by the legislature.

Vancouver corporation counsel, Russell Baker, told the committee Sunday sport had been approved by citizens in 1955 plebiscite and the legislature had the authority to grant it.

The action was opposed by R. J. McMaster, who presented a brief on behalf of the Lord's Day Alliance.

The brief urged committee members to reach a decision on the basis of "principle." Both moral and religious issues were involved, Mr. McMaster said.

GREAT RESPECT

Governments in Canada have traditionally acted "with great respect for the religious feelings and convictions of our people," he said.

Legislation cutting away at the observance of the Sabbath should be enacted "only in great emergency."

Mr. McMaster said Canada was a country founded on Christian principles and quoted the Fourth Amendment: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

"I suggest that the members of the legislature must, with integrity, consider firstly whether the principle involved in this legislation offends against the true meaning and spirit of the Fourth Commandment."

Because a "small majority of a small vote" approved Sunday sports in a plebiscite, the legislature should not force other people to surrender their rights.

EXPLOITERS

Mr. McMaster charged that promoters of commercialized sport in Vancouver "hope to make a better profit if they can also exploit Sunday."

Finally, Mr. McMaster argued that prohibitive Sunday observance legislation is criminal law, and cannot be amended by provincial statute.

Mr. Baker said the wording of the charter amendment is based on an act passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1950 permitting Sunday sports. This legislation has worked effectively, he said. Manitoba also passed a law allowing Sunday excursions which was upheld by the Privy Council.

DON'T APPLY

Provisions of the provincial Sunday Observance Act, which applies only to the mainland, are not applicable to modern-day conditions, Mr. Baker said.

The federal Lord's Day Act has a provision enabling provincial governments to pass separate legislation, he pointed out.

The corporation counsel quoted from a recent judgment by County Court Judge J. B. Clearihue in the case of a Sidney storekeeper who sold a cup and saucer to a tourist on Sunday afternoon. Judge Clearihue said our Sunday legislation needs modification, and this should be done by the legislature and not by the courts.

Mr. Baker said the size of the majority in the Vancouver plebiscite was not important.

WILL OF PEOPLE

"It was the will of the people of Vancouver that city council should seek permissive legislation," he said.

Answering Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, a committee member, Mr. Baker said the city had not consulted with the provincial government before submitting the plebiscite and he could see no reason why it should.

Opponents of Sunday sport would be able to test the legislation in the courts if they wanted, Mr. Baker said.

Also appearing before the committee was Allan Campbell, of the Sunday Afternoon Sports Committee, which was organized in 1951.

His group was not seeking a "wide-open" Sunday, Mr. Campbell said.

He compared the present dispute as a "man and wife fight in which nobody wins."

Cemetery Appeal Requested

The city, Saanich, local citizens and a cemetery company today asked Chief Justice Sloan for permission to appeal a decision of the Public Utilities Commission allowing establishment of a private cemetery near Goldstream.

The PUC in a recent judgment following a public hearing granted to the Memorial Gardens Association of Canada Ltd., permission to establish the cemetery.

The company's application before the PUC was strongly opposed by Victoria and district and civic bodies.

Lawyer D. M. Gordon, pleading on behalf of the Colwood Cemetery, asked that the permission to appeal be granted on the grounds that the PUC did not consider whether or not an additional cemetery was "necessary" for the Greater Victoria area.

The application to appeal the PUC's decision was heard in the Chief Justice's chamber. The municipal Royal Oak Cemetery board was represented by lawyer Alan Cox.

Other parties supporting the appeal application were A. J. Fulton, representing a group of local residents, the city and Saanich.

Alan Macfarlane represented the cemetery company.

The Chief Justice adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday to hear further arguments from parties opposed to the establishment of a cemetery.

First 'Skeena' Won Three Battle Honors

By MONTE ROBERTS

As naval history goes, the name "Skeena" is a comparatively new one.

There has been only one RCN ship bearing that name prior to the commissioning, on March 30, of Canada's newest destroyer escort.

And that Skeena lived only from August, 1931, to October, 1944.

In her life, though, the first Skeena racked up three battle honors—which will be inherited by her successor—and a record of combat glory remembered vividly by those who served in her.

The first Skeena was commissioned at Portsmouth, England, on June 10, 1931. She was built in England, on RN lines, but specifically for Canada—one of the first two RCN destroyers not taken over from the Royal Navy.

For the next eight years, she served on this coast, mainly as a training ship, while war clouds darkened.

She was in the Spithead review of 1937, following the coronation of King George VI; was at Halifax when the Second World War started.

During the winter of 1939-40 and the following spring, the Skeena was with the Halifax force on local escort of North Atlantic convoys.

In May, 1940, she was one of four Canadian destroyers sent to aid in the defence of Britain against the then-threatening invasion.

Later she served with the Newfoundland escort force; and as senior ship of mid-ocean escort groups, where snarling wolf packs of submarines snapped at the heels of convoys.

Battle honors won—and well won—during the war were: Atlantic 1939-1944; Normandy 1944; and Biscay 1944.

The Skeena's end came in October, 1944, when she was driven ashore on the Icelandic island of Videy in a heavy gale.

Fifteen lives were lost. The Skeena was a total loss. But her record lives on. And so will her name.

THE ORIGINAL SKEENA "lost her life" in October, 1944, when driven ashore in a gale on the Icelandic island of Videy. Fifteen crewmen died.

Her streamlined hull isn't too pleasing to the eye of the traditional seafarer, but it's a joy to those who will serve in her.

Former methods of ship-handling during action have been replaced with an electronic control system. The wheelhouse is on the main deck, fully enclosed, two decks below the bridge, and thus less vulnerable during attack.

Complex radar and direction-finding equipment "see" through fog and darkness, and during action, the captain will fight the ship from the operations room.

The ship is all-welded, and aluminum has been used extensively in the interior and superstructure for weight reduction and good stability.

Speed Aplenty

The vague feeling of "something missing" on the forecastle is explained by the absence of a capstan. It is located below deck.

The sub-hunter's power is from twin screws, driven by geared steam turbines which will give her "speed designed to meet requirements," as the navy puts it with typical reticence.

Twin rudders match the twin screws to provide extreme manoeuvrability and a turning circle which is top secret—as are so many qualities of this design, believed to be the smallest ship capable of maintaining fighting efficiency against the modern submarine, under the tough weather conditions of the sea lanes.

The traditional open bridge, exposed to the elements and enemy fire, still exists on DDE 207. But it is used only for entering and leaving harbor, or for close-formation tactics.

OTTAWA MAY HELP in restoration of Fort Rodd Hill, considered as Centennial year-project. Groups of interested citizens Thursday toured location, on far side of Esquimalt Harbor. Site is in overgrown state now. Fort will be open for inspection by public between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday, March 31.

Fairey Optimistic Ottawa Will Help Restore Old Fort

Development of Esquimalt's Fort Rodd Hill by the Historical Sites and Monuments Board of Canada emerged today as a distinct possibility.

The board will meet in Ottawa in late May or early June to consider the proposal by a group of leading Victorians.

This information has come from Dr. Frank Fairey, MP for Victoria, who has taken up the proposal with federal authorities.

BY SUMMER

"I am very hopeful that we can look for a favorable decision this summer," said Dr. Fairey.

The 44-acre parkland, with its two old fortresses situated on the far side of Esquimalt Harbor east of the Spit, is owned by the department of national defence.

Dr. Fairey said Defence Minister Ralph Campney has informed him the army is no longer interested in the property.

The MP said some ministers have expressed approval of the proposal to maintain the area as a historical site.

Natural Resources Minister Jean Lesage quickly agreed to submit the proposal to the Historical Sites and Monuments Board, Dr. Fairey said.

MANY OTHERS

The board has been responsible over a period of years for restoring and maintaining a score of historic fortresses in Eastern Canada. Most are in Quebec and the Maritime provinces.

Meanwhile, a group of club and society representatives today went on record unanimously supporting the development of the historic site as a centennial project.

The group was taken on a tour of the property by Capt. Geoffrey D'Arcy on Thursday. It included Cyril Chapman, manager of the Empress Hotel, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

"As far as I'm concerned this should be the centennial project," he said. "It has everything, historic fortresses, beaches and woodland parkland."

Mrs. G. M. Welsh, school teacher, said the site was ideal as a recreational area.

Store Working Students Face Suspension

About 10 school students face suspension because of unauthorized absence from school to work at the opening of a new Safeway store, it was learned today.

Most of the students are from Mount View High School. The store is the new Safeway supermarket at Burnside and Tillamook, which was opened Tuesday.

Frank Rendle, principal of Mount View, said the boys can only be listed as truants. When they all return Monday, he said, they likely will be suspended until Inspector John Gough and the school board reviewed the facts and makes a decision.

Mr. Rendle said about half the parents of boys concerned applied to him for permission to have the boys away from school, and he declined. Yet the boys were told by the store management to either "take the four days off or get no more part-time work," he said.

"It put the boys on the spot," he said.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Knights of Columbus state deputy for B.C., Dr. J. Vingo of Nelson will visit Victoria Saturday to check organization plans for the annual state convention of the K of C to be held at the Empress Hotel, May 25-26. An estimated 200 delegates from the mainland will attend.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau will speak to Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel next Wednesday at 12.10 p.m.

Director of the Capital Region Planning Board, Brahm Wiesman, will speak on the progress to date in preparation of a regional plan, before the capital region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, Thursday, March 28.

The general meeting starts at 8 p.m. at 902 Government.

Victoria's 25 Twilight Singers, ranging in age from 68 to 90, will present a program at Belmont United Church, Belmont and Pembroke, tonight at 8.

Provincial tourist promotion slogan this year is "Share the Fun in British Columbia." Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood said today.

The first 1957 edition of the calendar of events published by the B.C. Government-Travel Bureau, lists close to 200 different community activities to which visitors are invited.

"So far inquiry response to the new tourist appeal has exceeded last year's record by several thousand," Mr. Westwood said.

William Rogers, 47, 486 Fraser, received a leg fracture, face and head cuts when in collision with a car driven by Lucien Langlois, 1232 Lyall, about 10.50 p.m. Thursday at Fraser and Carlyle.

He is being treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition is reported good.

Langlois pleaded guilty in Esquimalt police court this morning to impaired driving and was remanded to Monday for a probation report.

Police said the Langlois car had been on the wrong side of Fraser at the time of the accident. Heavy tire marks extending 53 feet were found on the pavement.

An Assize Court jury at noon today withdrew to consider a verdict in the case of Belton Frank Turner, 5021 Santa Clara, charged with criminal negligence.

The charge arose from the traffic death of John William Youson, 76, 748 Esquimalt Road, at the corner of Esquimalt Road and Rothwell on Jan. 5 this year.

A monthly wage increase of between $66 and $90, depending on various classifications, has been agreed on between 60 members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and B.C. Packers Ltd. at the Coal Harbor whaling station, Quatsino Sound.

The agreement, for a one-year term, provides for an across-the-board increase of 18 per cent in wages, while bonus and differentials. This amounts to an hourly increase, ranging from 27 cents to 34 cents.

Compulsory check-off of union dues was also established.

Edmonton youth Roy McGregor, 17, was sentenced in city police court today to six months definite and two years indeterminate in Oakalla jail young offender's unit on a charge of breaking, entering and intent to steal.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said he was not satisfied with a probation report on the accused and "therefore I have no alternative but to sentence you."

McGregor was convicted last week of entering the gunsmith shop of Fred Behnson, 1423 Broad, where he was found by police crouched behind a counter with a .25-calibre pistol taken from the shop in his possession.

George H. Grainger, 3161 Donald, was fined $300 in city court today when convicted for keeping a betting house.

Police charged he had information and records on horse race betting in premises at 1318 Government when they raided the address Monday.

He pleaded guilty to the charge.

A mainland youth who erased the word "minor" from his driver's licence to enable him to enter beer parlors was fined $50 for the offence in city court today.

Richard Lloyd Armbruster, 810 Wollaston, pleaded guilty to the charge. Prosecutor said he was temporarily employed in Victoria and withdrew a second charge of failing to report a change of address to the motor vehicles branch.

SHOPPING GUIDE

It's Vegetable Shopping Day Again, So Let's Go!

By PENNY SAVER

There are so many bright and appealing vegetables on display in town that it's hard to decide just which ones to have for dinner. You can have fun combining colors and tastes, and arranging the color contrasts to present to your family a variety of dinnertime treats.

The vegetables aren't confined to local or the usual seasonal varieties. Instead, it seems like the middle of summer, for salad makings and main dish products are keyed to sunny days. Green onions are 10 cents a bunch, and radishes 12 cents. Two packages of salad mix are yours for a quarter, and celery hearts are 35 cents a package. Celery stalks are 29 cents. Lettuce, a must, costs 15 cents a head.

New carrots are 29 cents for two bunches, and by the package, two for 29 cents. Parsnips are 39 cents for two bunches, and little white turnips, pleasant for a change, are the same price.

Fresh green sprouts taste good anytime, and are two pounds for 39 cents, while locally-grown leeks are 39 cents, while locally-grown onions are 10 cents a bunch. Cauliflower, to be served with carrots, cheese or a sauce, are 30 to 40 cents each. Asparagus, tender and green, costs 35 cents a bunch, and cabbage costs 33 cents for three pounds.

Once, after writing about extra-large mushrooms, I received a

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About mother of bridegroom: My son is to be married. When people come to the reception am I supposed to stand by the door with the bride's parents? How long would I remain there? The bride would come to be at her house for luncheon on the day of the wedding but I will have people staying at my house. Could I have my sister entertain them and excuse myself?

Louise Davis answers: Don't be concerned as to where you stand or for how long. The bride's mother undoubtedly will have everything figured out, so just ask her what she wants you to do. She will, of course, ask you to stand beside her during the receiving, and you would stay in the line until the last guest comes up to shake hands with the parents, the bride and bridegroom and with the bride's attendants.

As to your house guests, ask the bride or her mother if they would mind you remaining at home to entertain your guests. If they are disappointed the only thing you can do is to go. Your sister could take over the duties as hostess. The guests would understand.

Tempting, Nutritious Spring Salads

"Salad-ity" spring vegetables! If there isn't such a dictionary word there should be because the salad-presentation of March plentiful—such as fresh cauliflower, carrots, cabbage and turnips—is smart kitchen policy. Playing up these standbys, customarily served hot and covered with butter or cream sauces, in a glamorous new guise that brings their colorful good looks out into the open, will tempt the most languid appetites. And you will be assured that the family is stocking up on vitality-giving nutrients, so particularly important.

Call the vitamin roll of these easily available, comfortably priced vegetables. Cauliflower and broccoli says "vite" to goodly quantities of vitamin C, with broccoli scoring in A, too. The carrot teems with that health and beauty-builder, vitamin A. Cabbage comes in with a bounty of C, and excellent supplies of A, B and G to boot. The unassuming turnip turns in a telling count of vitamin A. All are also fine sources of health-helping minerals. And another bonus factor during this time when we must all beware of winter-logy waistlines—not one of these vegetables is high in calories!

DIFFERENT TASTING

The possibilities for spring vegetable salads are endless. These items are picture-pretty with their green, clear yellow to orange and comely vegetable colors—fresh snow-white—and delightfully different tasting. Chilled cooked cauliflower that has been marinated comely intriguingly with cold fish fillets or steak in a real show-stopper. Or, toast grated fresh carrots, turnips and cabbage with sliced cooked ham, add a dash of fresh lemon juice and black pepper and you'll have a salad that will please the palate and stick to the ribs.

Let's get spring vegetables out of their hot-cooked rut and into adventurous salads that have plenty of color, tastiness and nourishment. Here is a refreshingly different recipe:

CAULIFLOWER AND FISH

One and one-half cups cold poached fish fillets or steaks, 1 medium head cold cooked cauliflower, ¼ cup French dressing, ¼ head lettuce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon ground white pepper, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, fresh parsley for garnish, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1½ tablespoons pickle relish.

In this exciting salad cauliflower has been taken out of its customary hot-cooked role to star, cooked and chilled, as the salad partner of salmon fillets. The same recipe can be used with haddock, halibut or beef steak.

Salmon, haddock or halibut may be used. To poach fish, tie in a cheese cloth bag and place in boiling water. Cook 5 to 8 minutes or until flaky. Remove from bag and chill. Separate cauliflower into 6-pieces and marinate in mayonnaise mixed with pickle French dressing for 1 hour. Just before serving arrange lettuce on a serving platter. Flake fish and mix with salt, pepper and fresh lemon juice. Pile in the center of platter. Arrange cauliflower around fish. Garnish with fresh parsley. Serve with relish. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

WORST IN 30 YEARS

San Francisco Quake Sways Big Buildings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A heavy earthquake shook San Francisco at 11:45 a.m. today. It was followed immediately by another lighter shock.

A lighter quake had shaken the city at 10:48 a.m. Downtown buildings swayed. Unlike the earlier quake, the big shock was felt in other areas surrounding San Francisco Bay.

It was the worst shock San Francisco has experienced in 30 years. It was felt slightly 40 miles from San Francisco.

Stocks of groceries fell in some shops. The quake appeared to have both an up and down motion and a sideways roll.

SEATTLE (AP)—Another earthquake of "destructive intensity" was recorded early today in the Aleutian Island area that has been intermittently quaking for two weeks. The new tremor was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph at 6:27:03 a.m. PST.

UNEF Must Control Gaza Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the United Nations Emergency Force must have "effective control" of administration in the Gaza Strip if it is to carry out its responsibility to keep the peace along the Israel-Gaza border.

If Egypt does not agree to this, he said in the Commons.

Twin Election Triumph Cheers U.K. Tories

LONDON (Reuters)—Conservative party leaders were cheered today by twin election results which sent the son of an American professor to Parliament and in their view put a brake on the government's sagging popularity.

At both Newcastle North and Beckenham the Labor party slashed the Conservative majorities recorded in the 1955 general election. But the slump in the Conservative vote was much less than in other recent by-elections.

The results: Beckenham: P. G. Goodhart, Conservative, 29,621; N. D. Sanderson, Labor, 17,445. Conservative majority 12,176. 1955 majority—21,237. Newcastle North: R. W. Elliot, Conservative, 19,017; T. L. Macdonald, Labor, 12,553. Conservative majority: 6,462. 1955 majority—10,993.

Goodhart, a newspaper man, is the son of New York-born A. L. Goodhart, dean of University College at Oxford University.

The surprising feature of the two by-elections was that at Newcastle, centre of an area critically affected by the current strike of 200,000 shipworkers, the Conservative share of the vote dropped only 3.6 per cent. But in Beckenham, a prosperous London suburb, the Conservative drop was 6.03 per cent.

But either way the figures are an improvement as far as the government is concerned.

sters' union, in a public hearing Tuesday. Today, along with testimony from Brewster, the senators heard a staff investigator testify he found nothing in the union's records to reflect loans to Beck until 1954, when he said the Internal Revenue Service began investigating Beck's affairs.

This testimony came from Carmine Bellino, an accountant and investigator for congressional groups.

NO INTEREST PAID

Beck has said that he borrowed, but has since repaid, $300,000 to $400,000 of union funds without posting security or paying interest.

Bellino said reports to the government by the Seattle Teamsters' Joint Council Building Association showed accounts receivable at the end of 1953 as $7,422.89 but the next annual statement showed accounts receivable of $257,422.89.

The staff accountant said the union building association's cash receipts book then reflected a $200,000 repayment from Beck in August, 1954, and a later $50,000 payment.

Brewster came before the senators from U.S. district court, where he was arraigned on charges of contempt of Congress and entered a plea of not guilty.

REFUSED TO ANSWER

The charge grew out of his refusal to answer questions at an earlier senate inquiry.

Arraigned with Brewster, and also pleading not guilty, was Einar O. Mohn, executive vice-president of the teamsters.

Two lesser union officials also were scheduled for arraignment. Nugent LaPoma, secretary-treasurer of teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, Wash., pleaded not guilty. Harry Reiss, welfare fund administrator of Local 227 in New York, did not answer when his name was called.

The judge set the trial dates at May 20 for Brewster, June 3 for Mohn, and May 27 for LaPoma.

67 Missing Aboard U.S. Army Plane

TOKYO (AP)—Fear mounted tonight for the lives of 67 persons aboard a U.S. military transport plane which disappeared early today off Japan in stormy, shark-infested waters as it neared the end of its trans-Pacific flight.

Low clouds and rain squalls hampered air search and 30-foot swells reduced visibility of searching ships almost to zero.

The four-engine C-97, military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser, left Wake Island Thursday afternoon for Tokyo on the last leg of a flight from Travis air base near San Francisco.

The air force said 57 passengers and a crew of 10 were aboard, with the passengers including 27 air force personnel, 17 army and 10 navy, two civilian government employees (both men), and a woman military dependent.

All the crew, which included at least one woman, were members of the air force.

Record Jet Flight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sweeping U.S. Navy bomber flashed over International Airport Thursday night to set a round-trip record to New York and back of nine hours, 15 minutes and 23 seconds, and a New York-to-Los Angeles record of five hours, 14 minutes, 58 seconds.

Fags Cause Cancer Scientists Report

NEW YORK (AP)—A study group of seven scientists said in a report made public today that "scientific evidence establishes beyond reasonable doubt that cigarette smoking is a causative factor in the rapidly increasing incidence" of lung cancer.

"Lung cancer occurs much more frequently five to 15 times among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, and there is a direct relationship between the incidence of lung cancer and the amount smoked," the report said.

"It is estimated that on a life-time basis, one of every 10 men who smoke over two packs a day will die of lung cancer. The comparable risk among non-smokers is estimated at one out of 275."

Max Grossman, crown counsel, claimed the "kickbacks" are the continuation of a 1931 agreement.

$60,000 ACCUMULATED

Under this agreement, he said Imperial Optical agreed to pay doctors the difference between invoice wholesale price and retail sale price on all glasses and lenses resulting from prescriptions issued by the doctors. The minimum amount set on each prescription "kickback," he said, was $4.50.

Mr. Grossman said that when the B.C. Medical Act of 1946 declared agreements of this type illegal, the doctors were "scared" to take out their "kickback."

He claimed that $60,000 accumulated within the year between the act and establishment of Prescription Optical Co. Ltd. in September, 1947.

Rioting Women Wetted Down

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—Fire hoses were used to quell a "minor riot" at the Manitoba jail for women here Thursday night, a fire department official said.

He said firemen called after the disturbance by seven women broke out in a basement kitchen "turned a couple of fire lines on them and wetted them down."

Firemen were back at their quarters within 50 minutes.

Jail officials and police referred all requests for information to Deputy Attorney-General O. M. H. Kay, who would not comment Thursday night.

However, it was reported the women involved broke "every dish they could lay their hands on."

No one was reported injured.
